Honor Camp Fugitives Captured Near Millersburg

Four Youths, Girl Trapped In Stolen Car After Pursuit

OSR Escapers Face Charges of Larceny, Kidnaping, Auto Theft, and Armed Robbery.

Four Mansfield reformatory inmates who escaped from an OSR honor camp Tuesday and, with a 17-year-old girl companion, allegedly stole two automobiles and abducted and robbed three men within 24 hours, were captured at Millersburg early today.

The five also were linked with an automobile accident near Mansfield early yesterday in which two Mansfield residents were seriously injured.

The state highway patrol identified the girl—a tall, blue-eyed blond—as Sue Ellen Smith, 17, of Cleveland, a friend of Robert Miller, 19, of Cleveland, one of the fugitives.

The other inmates were identified as James Lee Vendor, 16, and Donald W. Burson, 22, both of Canton, and Leland R. Earlenbaugh, 26, of Akron.

The Associated Press quoted Capt. Lawrence S. Bauer of the Lancaster police as stating he would file charges of armed robbery, grand larceny, auto theft and kidnaping against the four men and the girl.

All five were kept overnight in Holmes county jail at Millersburg and questioned by Prosecutor Raymond Miller of Holmes county today.

Police Chief Frank D. Manly of Millersburg told the News-Journal the four men and their companion were apprehended at 12:15 a. m. at a road block at the intersection of Routes 62 and 76, three miles south of Millersburg.

Manly said the fugitives were holding Joseph A. Stanko, proprietor of the J. and R. Cleaners in Lancaster, in whose stolen car they were riding.

Stanko, who was robbed of $170, was the third man the group had abducted and robbed. Earlier, they hod forcibly held two Richland county men after the pair had been lured to pick up two of the fugitives who had posed as hitch-hikers.

Manly said the group put up no resistance. He said all bridges and roads throughout the state were being watched.

Manly quoted the youths as stating that after their escape from the reformatory's camp at Grafton, Tuesday morning, they picked up the girl at Mansfield early yesterday.

GOP SENATORS GET CALL FOR PARTY PARLEY

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., chairman of the senate GOP conference, assured new and old Republican senators today that they will have a final voice in framing their party's program for the 80th congress.

Vandenberg's letter announcing a senate conference for Dec. 30 was viewed in some GOP quarters as an effort to answer any complaints that present leaders had taken too much authority into their own hands.

The Michigan senator, who is slated to be president pro tempore and foreign relations chairman in the new senate, wrote his colleagues that the recent steering committee sessions had settled nothing in final form. His one-page letter contended that news reports on last week's leadership pow-wows were "misleading."

One Republican senator appointed to help draft a portion of the legislative program said Vandenberg's communication was "aimed primarily" at the 17 Republican newcomers elected to the senate on Nov. 5.

There were reports of grumbling, however, from a handful of incumbents who did not participate in the conferences which virtually settled both the problems of leadership and agenda for the new majority.

Vandenberg advised the GOP senators that Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio, chairman of the steering committee, was writing them more fully on the same subject. Taft's letter, drafted before he left on a Central American vacation trip Tuesday, is going out this week.

Taft emphasized at the close of the steering committee deliberations that the present leaders could only make "recommendations" to the 53 Republicans who will constitute the majority after Jan. 3.

The steering committee's work, he said, is subject to approval of the entire membership—in senate terms the "conference."

One newly-elected GOP senator, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, promptly took issue with the leadership objective of a 20 per cent income tax cut. Cooper told reporters he thought taxes should remain at their present level.

There were hints that there might be other objections to the apparent agreement on assignment of leadership posts.

SUGAR RATION HIKE SEEN NEXT SPRING

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Reliable government sources said today the basic sugar ration for consumers will be boosted by one third early next spring, probably in April.

At the same time, they said, industrial users such as soft drink and food manufacturers will get a comparable increase by having their allocations hiked from 60 to 70 per cent of their 1940-41 base period.

These sources said an anticipated improvement in Cuban sugar shipments will make the increase possible. But they said there is no prospect sugar rationing can be abandoned completely before the spring of 1948.

JAP PURGE HITS FIRM OFFICIALS

TOKYO —(INS)— General MacArthur's purge of Japanese war time officials was extended today to key officials of private companies, newspapers, radio stations and movie studios.

The move marked the second sweeping application within a month by the Yoshida government of MacArthur's directive barring war time leaders from holding public office.

The powerful Zaibatsu companies were prominent among the 238 companies whose officials from president down to shareholders holding 10 per cent of the total stock are barred from public office if they held responsible positions between July, 1937, and September, 1945.

The government will screen similar officials of more than 199 other companies with "concentrated economic power," or those which manufactured aircraft and munitions or having capitalizations of more than 100 million yen.

Government officials could not venture an estimate of the number of Japanese affected by the latest purge action.

Screening of the corporate officials and others is to be done by the same boards which are being set up to examine qualifications of prefectural, city and village public officials as announced last October.

TRUCKERS GET RAISE

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— Wage boosts ranging as high as 15 per cent have been granted some 40,000 over-the-road drivers by more than 3,000 truck owners in 12 midwestern states. Negotiators for the owners and AFL Teamsters Union described a one-year agreement, reached yesterday, as "mutually satisfactory."

PLANS DRAWN FOR ADDITION TO HOSPITAL

Expansion For X-ray Department Expected to Cost $17,000.

Plans are nearing completion for building an addition to the X-ray department at the Mansfield General hospital at an approximate cost of $17,000, board members disclosed today.

Plans are in charge of Herbert S. Jones, architect.

The new addition will be built in the court space at the hospital adjacent to the present X-ray department and will be about 24 by 40 feet, large enough to accommodate a new X-ray machine.

With the addition of the new equipment, the General hospital will have seven machines available to its increasing number of patients.

Although architectural and building plans are still in the tentative stage, it is expected that work will be started some time after the first of the year.

896 Bed Patients.

A total of 896 bed patients were admitted to the Mansfield General hospital during October, Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent, said in his report at the monthly board meeting last night.

This number does not include accident cases treated in the emergency rooms, Dr. Fonkalsrud said. Under the accident category are listed 140 cases for October, making a total for the 10 months of this year, 1,329. Last year's emergency record totaled 1,036.

Bed patients for the first ten months totaled 6,389 as against last year's total of 5,438 for the corresponding period.

"This is the biggest year we have ever had in hospital work," Dr. Fonkalsrud told board members.

E. W. Loughridge, president of the board, presided over the meeting, during which routine matters of the hospital were considered.

Court's Easy On Girl With 2 Husbands

LONDON — (INS) — Justice tempered with mercy was meted out today in Assizes court in London so Irenie Idiana Harrison-Carr could join the man she loves in the United States.

Judge Leeds sentenced the pretty, 22-year-old British girl to two-days imprisonment, which meant her immediate release on charges of bigamously marrying Quentin Frost in October 1945. At that time, Frost was a member of the Ninth U. S. Army airforce.

Irenie, moreover, was given a document by the court to prove she never has been in prison.

This followed a defense plea that she would not be allowed to enter the United States if she had served a prison-term.

Frost, meantime, is waiting in St. Louis with the couple's four-months-old baby, and two other children by Irenie's previous marriage.

Reece Says South Will Desert Dems

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. —(U.P.)— J. Carroll Reece, Republican national committee chairman, predicts the crack-up of the solid south to help elect a Republican president in 1948.

En route to his Johnson City, Tenn., home, Reece said that "some three or four southern states will join the Republican tide according to present trends."

ONE-DAY CRIME WAVE ENDED—The smiling group of youths in the top photo are four inmates at the Mansfield reformatory's Grafton honor camp, who, with a 17-year-old girl companion, were captured early today near Millersburg after they allegedly abducted three men and stole two automobiles during a 24-hour period. They were identified by Sheriff Wayne D. Starner of Holmes county as (top row, left to right) Leland R. Earlenbaugh, 26, of Akron; Donald W. Burson, 22, of Canton; Sue Ellen Smith, 17, of Cleveland; (bottom row, left to right), Robert Miller, 19, of Cleveland, and James Lee Vendor, 16, of Canton. In bottom photo, Sheriff Starner (center) questions Joseph Stanko, 35, of Lancaster, who was robbed and forced to accompany the quintet last night. Crash Victims Remain Trapped High In Alps

PARIS—(AP)—American authorities at Orly airfield said tonight they feared the outlook was virtually hopeless for the 11 persons aboard a crashed C-53 transport unless rescue crews reached within a few hours the spot in the Alps where the plane came down two days ago. Unable to confirm an earlier report that the plane had been located from the air, authorities withdrew the announcement.

The U. S. Army C-53 transport plane crashlanded Tuesday on a glacier high in the French Alps about 45 miles west of the Italian city of Turin, U. S. Army headquarters in Frankfurt, Germany, reported a radio message saying eight of the 11 persons on the C-53 were stretcher cases.

Among the passengers were Brig. Gen. Loyal M. Haynes, former deputy chief of staff, U. S. Forces in Austria; Haynes' wife, and the wives of Brig. Gens. Ralph H. Tate and Ralph Snavely. Mrs. Tate is the mother of the plane's pilot, Capt. Ralph H. Tate, jr.

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney announced today that 4,000 German prisoners would be released from jails under American control on Dec. 15 so they could join their families for Christmas.

EX-AAF MEN TO FLY AT AIRPORT SUNDAY

Five army training planes from the Eleventh Air Force base in Cleveland will return to Mansfield Sunday to resume the training program at Municipal airport for former Army Air Force crewmen.

J. B. McConnell, member of the advisory council of the Mansfield Air Force association, which is sponsoring the program, said training flights would be conducted at the airport from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., weather permitting.

The program is designed to keep pilots and crewmen proficient in flying all types of aircraft. Two-seated advanced army trainers now are being used, but later heavier types of aircraft will be employed.

Punch Boards Again Littering Counters of Mansfield Stores

Those punch boards are back again. They litter the counters of Mansfield stores.

Back, too, are pull boards, the punch board's second cousin, and, a third cousin, the familiar pin ball machines.

Together they add up to a means of gambling while you eat, buy a pack of cigarets or just shoot the breeze over a coke.

Home-bound hermits are about the only ones who don't know that you can wager a nickel in many of the city's smaller stores and—maybe—walk out with cash or merchandise winnings.

However, Police Chief Meade K. Bates, whose men have been busy this week raiding dice games, said he didn't know boards were back on counters. He parried further questioning with: "no comment."

The crux of the return of the boards lies in the fact that they mark, at least, the slipping off of the "permanent" lid which was reportedly clamped on gambling here last February.

They also represent a paradox. Dice games, in which $8 and $20 was confiscated this week, are stamped out while punch and pull boards, which easily involve equal sums, are on Mansfield's counters.

Said Chief Bates: "no comment."

MURRAY PUSHES CIO PAY ACTION

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. —(U.P.)—President Philip Murray called upon the CIO to complete its wage policy today in the face of an industrial crisis touched off by the soft coal strike.

Completion of convention's resolutions on wage policy, political action and one calling for support of a foreign policy opposed to stock-piling atomic bombs will clear the way for Murray's re-election as president tomorrow.

Murray said the foreign policy and wage resolutions would be called up today in between speeches by Leon Jouhaux, joint general secretary of the French Federation of Labor, and Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach. Jack Kroll, chairman of the CIO political action committee, also is scheduled to address the convention before it ends tomorrow with election of officers.

New resolutions were submitted to the convention last night calling on President Truman to retain and enforce rent control, and to proclaim amnesty for 6,000 conscientious objectors who are in prison or have lost civil rights. Others pledge more intensive political action in 1947-48 elections at the local level and urge American school teachers to follow the lead of workers in basic industry by joining a CIO mass union.

"An unprecedented crisis exists in the American school system," the resolution on education asserted. It blamed under-payment of teachers under-financing of school systems and under-manning of class rooms.

Union Leader Facing Court Contempt Rap

Strike Begins at Deadline When Mine Boss Refuses to Obey Judge's Order.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The government moved quickly to cite John L. Lewis for contempt of court today as a general walkout of UMW miners occurred in the soft coal mines.

Reports from the field indicated some anthracite miners were joining the 400,000 bituminous diggers in a stoppage that could eventually touch all industry. Work suspension came in the face of government pleas to keep the mines going.

Lewis, who disregarded a court order to restore the effectiveness of the miners' contract with the government, continued silent.

The United Mine Workers' boss was at home in suburban Alexandria, Va., and as the morning passed there was no indication that he planned to come into his Washington union headquarters. There were indications there that Lewis may have made arrangements for an extended absence from his office. It was known that he spent much of yesterday answering mail and otherwise clearing his desk of pending business.

By early afternoon, government attorneys were expected to go before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough and petition for a contempt citation that might subject him to fine or imprisonment.

Orders went out to cushion the impact of a prospective coal famine.

Federal Works Administrator Philip B. Fleming ordered a return to wartime heating and lighting strictures in all federal buildings throughout the country which depend on coal.

Fleming said he would seek to reduce temperatures to the wartime level of 68 degrees. The order affects approximately 300 buildings in the capital alone.

Orders Gas Rationing.

The Civilian Production administration prepared a directive designed to help ration artificial gas, produced from coal. The same agency pondered an electricity conservation order.

Assistant Attorney General John Sonnett awaited only the word from Attorney General Tom Clark before presenting the contempt citation before Judge Goldsborough.

The petition, it was learned, was drawn up by Clark, Sonnett, and other government lawyers.

The finishing touches are being applied at a staff conference.

* * *

Plans Punishment.

In all-out action, the administration was reported also preparing to seek punishment for any local union leaders or others who are found to be encouraging a strike.

In the mounting crisis, U. S. troops stood ready to move into

BIG 4 SEEKING SETTLEMENT OF TRIESTE ISSUE

NEW YORK —(INS)— Another bid to overcome the last hurdles blocking a complete accord on the statute of Trieste will be made today by the council of foreign ministers.

The issue facing the ministers at the scheduled 4 o'clock meeting late this afternoon is the demand again raised by Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov for preferential treatment in Trieste port along with a customs union for Yugoslavia.

The three western powers are standing pat on their contention that special zones within the free port for neighboring nations or closely interwoven administrative relationships through exclusive rights run counter to the spirit of the Paris-approved statute.

Delegation members are of the opinion that the Big Four will not find the going easy on the intricate economic problems raised by Molotov's special demands, and may concentrate their efforts on securing an agreement on broad principles only. The rest could then be left to the deliberations of experts.

In this connection, British Foreign Secretary Bevin proposed that all matters of port control and administration in Trieste be placed in the lap of an international commission consisting of all countries interested in trade and commerce through that area.

It is held doubtful whether the Big Four will try again this afternoon to explore the problem of the removal of British and American occupation troops in the free territory, as demanded by Molotov. He balked yesterday at a further discussion of this subject, leaving open by inference his offer to trade such a concession by the United States and Britain for his unqualified acceptance of vital Article Nine on the governor's right to call an emergency when he deems public order and human and civic rights endangered.

Diplomatic experts were of the opinion that Molotov, after his letter to the Italian government suggesting direct negotiations with Yugoslavia on Trieste, was playing for time in a move designed to improve his chances for further statute changes.

$75 DONATED TO HELP BAND

Three cash donations, totaling $75, have been received by the Mansfield Senior high school Band Parents' club, Mrs. F. A. McCune, club secretary, said today.

One donation of $25 was given by Mr. and Mrs. Walbridge Parsons, 58 Parkwood boulevard, in honor of their daughter, Miss Cecelia Parsons of Stanford, Conn., who was the first band majorette at the Senior high in 1926 and 1927.

Other donations of $25 each, Mrs. McCune said, were received from Mrs. Myrtle Houston, 966 Maumee avenue, and from the Rogers and company jewelry store.

Committee members for the band's 25th anniversary observance were announced as Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eyerly, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Milliken, Mr. and Mrs. Max Worthley, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Essig and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Young.

Comic Can't See Joke In Eviction

NEW YORK — (INS) — Milton Berle, Broadway's highest paid comic isn't cracking wise today over the apartment situation.

Berle appeared before the OPA to prevent his landlord, Maurice Fleischman from ousting him from his swank east side duplex apartment. Fleischman says he wants to live in the apartment himself. The OPA rent board said it would make a decision later.

COLD WAVE SET TO ARRIVE FRIDAY

That "smog," which has been blanketing Mansfield during early morning and evening hours is scheduled to give way to a cold bank of air due to reach here tomorrow night.

The weatherman said the low pressure area over Mansfield, which has caused the unpleasant mixture, of smoke and fog, would be succeeded by temperatures in the 20s Saturday morning. Snow flurries were predicted for parts of the state.

Rain tonight or early tomorrow will be the advance guard for the weekend's cold spell, the weather bureau forecast. The low this morning at Hayesville was 40 degrees, while the high yesterday was a pleasant 58.

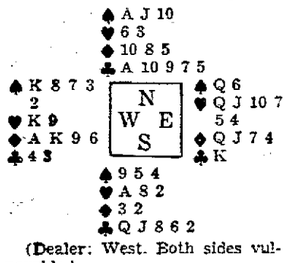
Barclay on Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

SOMETIMES the bids and rebids of various suits by skillful pair may be read so clearly by a keen kibitzer that he could tell you the exact length of each suit in the hand of each bidder. That is, if both had been bidding strictly according to conventional practice. It is interesting then to take a look and note whether the inferred distributions were precisely in line with the existing facts.



(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
4 ♥

A kibitzer, who was watching South's hand, made a note on a slip of paper indicating his idea of the exact suit lengths in both the East and West hands, then found his deductions confirmed to the most exact degree.

For West, he listed five spades because the suit was bid first, later rebid, and only four diamonds because they were bid second but the higher suit rebid. Then he counted exactly two heart for West, as with three he would have supported the suit after East's rebid instead of rebidding the spades; not one heart, as with only one he would have gone to 5-Diamonds instead of supporting hearts belatedly. That of course left West two clubs.

For East, he listed six hearts and four diamonds; having only five hearts, he would not have left the game there when West's delayed raise showed only two, but might have reached for 5-Diamonds with the four he had indicated by his third-round bid. As for East's cards in the black suits, he made just a pure guess, but that happened to be right too, as he had allotted East two spades and one club.

At it happened, the heart game was made, three aces winning against it, whereas a diamond game would have been impossible because the same trick would be dropped.

WORKERS SEEK 15 CENT WAGE HIKE AT SHELBY

Council to Decide on Raises at Next Meeting.

SHELBY—City council will be faced with another municipal water problem when it meets Dec. 2—in the form of a request for a 15-cent-an-hour boost in wages for stationary engineers and boiler operators employed by the city.

The request for the wage hike, received in a letter addressed to council from R. J. Jameson, assistant international representative of the Union of Operating Engineers, made a comparison of the wage rates here and in other Ohio cities of comparable size.

Citing as a reason for a readjustment upward of wages, Jameson's letter said that in Willard, engineers receive $1.15 an hour and are anticipating a boost to $1.25. It further said that Galion pays $1.12 and $1.01 an hour to engineers and boiler operators, respectively.

The rates paid in Norwalk are $1.22 and $1.10, while Painesville pays monthly salaries of $297 and $265, the letter stated. Engineers in Shelby receive $1.08 an hour and boiler operators $1 an hour.

Commenting on the raise sought, Mayor F. C. Long advised council to study the question until the matter is brought up at the next council session. In answer to queries, the mayor said he would have the city's financial director estimate the total cost of such wage hikes should they be granted.

Wholesale Food Prices Leap To New Peaks In Past Week

NEW YORK —(UP)— Wholesale food prices for the week ended Nov. rose to a record high, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., has reported.

The agency's wholesale index of 31 basic food commodities for the last week rose to $6.49 from $6.29 the preceding week and $4.15 the corresponding 1945 period. The index covers the first full week following President Truman's de-control of all items except sugar, rice and rents.

Commodities prices advancing during the week were wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, hams, bellies, butter, sugar, coffee, cottonseed oil, cocoa, eggs, potatoes, steers, hogs and sheep. On the downside were lard, cheese and lambs.

The food index represents the sum total of the price per pound of 31 goods in general use.

Large Stone Front Bungalow
We have just listed one of the most beautiful bungalows in the city and one that cannot be duplicated today at any price.

Built in 1941 by one of our best builders it has everything of the finest built into it. There is a large living room with coal or wood burning fireplace made from Indiana sandstone with gum wood mantle, large dinette and a kitchen that is a woman's delight with just lots and lots of cupboard space. Has 2 large airy bedrooms that can accommodate twin beds. The bath has all the very latest features with linen cupboard and white tile walls. Full cement basement with good furnace and controlled gas heat. There is also a very large recreation room with a long bar and mantle. Attached garage with cement floor and fully plastered walls and ceilings and with full cement drive to street.

This lovely home is located southwest and rests on a lot 60x155 ft. Lots of shrubs. Anyone that is interested in a fine home should call now, it will be a long time before another bungalow can be built like it.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

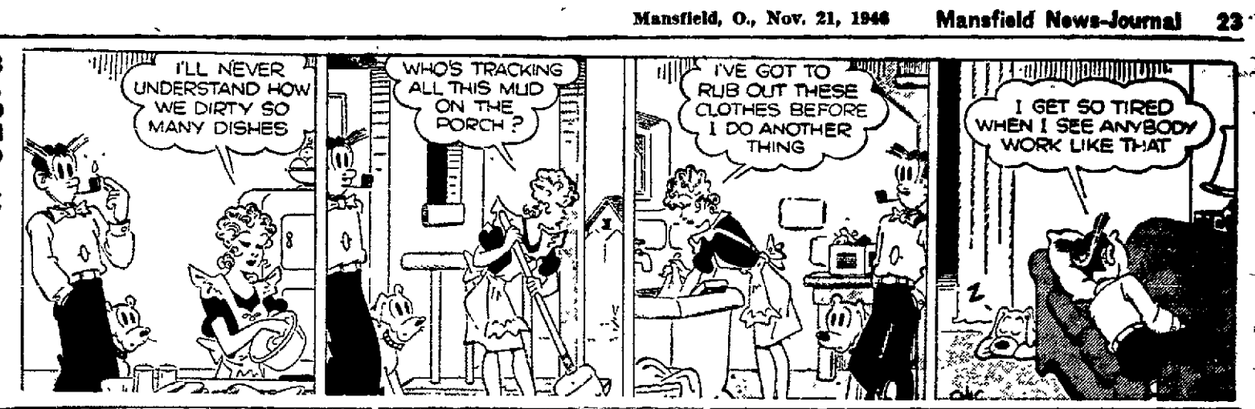
OUR PLANS FOR BIG PROFITS WENT HAYWIRE, BECAUSE OF YOU! YOU'LL PAY FOR IT WITH YOUR LIFE, PRANKSTER!
AN' WE'LL KILL TH' GIRL, TOO, TO SHUT HER UP!
UB-FLUT ZU-G!?!
MEANWHILE—
WHO HIRED YOU TO BLOCK OFF "GALLOPIN' GUS"?
PRANKSTER AND HIS CRONIES—
—AT "MONTY'S TURF NEWS SERVICE"!

BLONDIE



I'LL NEVER UNDERSTAND HOW WE DIRTY SO MANY DISHES
WHO'S TRACKING ALL THIS MUD ON THE PORCH?
I'VE GOT TO RUB OUT THESE CLOTHES BEFORE I DO ANOTHER THING
I GET SO TIRED WHEN I SEE ANYBODY WORK LIKE THAT

TERRY & PIRATES

THE UNCONSCIOUS GIRL FROM THE PACKING CASE IS GOING TO BE A BIG PROBLEM, JANE .. MY CLIENT IN INDO-CHINA MUST HAVE WANTED VERY BADLY TO GET HER OVER THE BORDER.
HER PAPERS WILL GET HER BY MR. CRISPIN, BUT TERRY LEE WILL HAVE TO DECLARE HER ON HIS PASSENGER LIST ..
IT'S UNFAIR TO LEE TO MAKE HIM A PARTY TO MY CLIENT'S PLOTTING! WE ARE NOT REQUIRED TO SIGN A PASSENGER DECLARATION...
YOU MEAN TO PUT THIS GIRL BACK INTO THE BOX AND LET IT BE UNLOADED WITH THE OTHERS ?
RIGHT! YOU CAN SEE SHE HAD FOOD AND WATER—AND A CATCH TO RELEASE THE SIDE OF THE CASE SO IT COULD SWING BACK ON HINGES ..
WHILE THE CRATES WAITED DURING THE USUAL CHINESE CUSTOMS DELAYS, SHE PLANNED TO WALK OFF—HEY! SHE'S COMING TO ..
WHERE AM I ?
I DON'T KNOW WHERE YOU ARE, LADY. BUT WE ARE BILLETED BEYOND THE EIGHT BALL!

ORPHAN ANNIE

WELL, WERE FREE, SANDY— AT LEAST FOR A WHILE— WE'VE GOT TH' "SUN IN THE MORNIN'"—"THE MOON IN TH' EVENIN'," AS TH' SONG SAYS—

THAT'D BE AWFUL THIN FARE JUST BY ITSELF, O' COURSE—BUT WE'VE GOT PLENTY O' DOUGH, TOO—SO WE'LL EAT—BUT THERE'S ONE CATCH— SOME FOLKS SAY THERE SHOULD BE A LAW AGAINST ORPHANS— WELL, SANDY, SEEMS AS HOW THERE IS!

GASOLINE ALLEY

HE SAID "BRING YOUR WIVES OR SWEETHEARTS" AN' WE DON'T HAVE ANY WIVES
BUT, JANICE ISN'T REALLY MY SWEETHEART
HULDA WOULDN'T MAKE THE GRADE ON THAT EITHER BUT SHE'S THE BEST I'VE GOT MAYBE MR WALLET WASN'T SERIOUS ABOUT IT THAT WOULD BE VERY EMBARRASSING!
YOU HEARD HIM! YOU SIGN UP JANICE AN' I'LL DATE HULDA
I'LL CALL JANICE. MAYBE SHE WON'T EVEN WANT TO GO WITH ME

DICK TRACY

CHIEF• DID YOU KNOW VITAMIN FLINTHEART IS IN TOWN?
NO!
THE LAST WE HEARD OF HIM, HE AND SNOW-FLAKE WERE OUT WEST IN PICTURES
CHRISTMAS EARLY JUST CALLED ME VITAMIN'S RUNNING A HAMBURGER STAND!
MR TRACY'S COMING OVER. THEN WE THREE WILL ALL GO BACK TO MR FLINT-HEART'S PLACE.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

PETER MISSES OLD NEIGHBORS

All summer Peter Rabbit had watched a house grow. It was in a tree in the Old Briarpatch. When he had first seen it it was small. It was made of gray paper and the gray paper had been made from gray wood pulp and the gray wood pulp had been made from tiny bits of wood bitten from a gray weatherbeaten rail of the fence between the Green Meadows and the Old Pasture not far from the Old Briarpatch. Madam Baldface the Wasp had bitten off those tiny bits of wood and chewed them into pulp and made this into paper with which she had built this little house as Peter first saw it.

Then her children took over the work of adding to that house, for all were workers. So the house grew bigger and bigger to meet the needs of a growing family until it was a big gray apartment house shaped like a pear hanging with the smaller end down. The entrance was there and Peter, having nothing better to do, had often sat watching the busy workers going in and out. He had wished often that he could peep inside those gray walls and see what was going on inside, but of course he couldn't.

After a while he had lost interest in these neighbors who attended strictly to their own business and it was a long time since he had given them so much as a thought until this cool autumn morning. Just by chance he had looked up at that house. At once he had an odd feeling that something was missing. At first he couldn't think what it was. Suddenly it came to him. The busy workers were missing. Not one was to be seen at or near the entrance. That big gray house had an air of desertion. Peter sat down and stared up at it wonderingly. Not a single wasp came out. Not one went in.

"I wonder if they are all inside and have gone to sleep for the winter," thought he. "I suppose they are. I wish I could look inside and find out. But of course they must be. I wonder if they crowd together to keep each other warm as I have been told Honey Bees do."

But there was no way for him to find out for that house was high above his head. Anyway he wouldn't have dared break it open had it been where he could reach it. He was reminded that Madam Baldface had two cousins whose homes he had found early in the summer beneath the overhang of a big rock at the edge of the Old Pasture. One was Madam Flitwing. She was a papermaker like her cousin but put no wall around the rooms she made of gray paper. In each of these an egg was laid and a young Wasp raised. These little rooms were six-sided and joined together.

The other cousin was Madam Daubér. She was a mason and built her house of mud or clay. Her rooms were round. Both houses were attached to the overhang of the big rock. Peter had watched some of the work of building of both. Now he wondered if Madam Dauber and Cousin Flitwing and their children were planning to spend the winter in those homes they had worked so hard to build.

"I'll run over there and find out," thought Peter and away he went, lipperty, lipperty, lip.

He was very careful in creeping under the edge of the big rock. He had no desire to feel the sharp, painful little dances that he knew both those cousins carried. As soon as he was under the overhang he saw that both homes were still there. They were a little larger than when he had last seen them, but nothing at all like the great home of Madam Baldface. There was no one around. Those little rooms, or cells, were open. He could look right into them. They were empty. Yes, sir, they were empty. He had a feeling that these homes were deserted. But what had become of the builders? Had something happened to his old neighbors? Had Jimmy Skunk found them and eaten them? No, he couldn't have for he would have pulled those homes down and torn them to pieces.

"Queer how little we know about our neighbors and what happens to them sometimes," thought Peter as he returned to the Old Briarpatch.

TEMPORARY PATROLMAN

GALION—Herman Bowers has been appointed a temporary city patrolman for three months, filling a vacancy created by the resignation of Robert Heiby. Bowers is a veteran of World War II.

Amvet Post Honors Hero's Parents Today

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spreng will be honored by members of AMVETS Robert P. Spreng post No. 26 at ceremonies of formal presentation of the post's colors today at 8 p. m. in the Memorial building.

The AMVET post was named for Lt. Robert Spreng, jr., one of the first men from Mansfield to lose his life in World War II. Lt. Spreng went down while on a mission in India in April, 1942.

Presentation of the colors will be made by a detail from McVey post, American Legion, under the leadership of Post Commander D. A. McCullough.

An address by AMVET state commander Fred J. Milligan, and open house will climax the evening's activities.

NO CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

BUCYRUS — Because equipment for stringing Christmas lights in the downtown district is in need of repair and replacements, Bucyrus junior chamber of commerce voted to dispense with the colored lighting again this year. Bucyrus has had no downtown Christmas lighting since before the war.

HITLER'S PHYSICIAN DENIES ATROCITIES

NUERNBERG —(INS)— Dr. Karl Brandt, Hitler's personal physician, and 22 other Nazi doctors, including a woman, were arraigned today on charges of murdering thousands of concentration camp inmates by medical experiments. All pleaded not guilty before court was adjourned to Dec. 9.

Many of the defendants appeared in court wearing their Wehrmacht uniforms but without decorations or sign of rank.

The woman doctor, Herta Auberhauser, German hausfrau type, wore a purple silk dress with a white collar.

Briefs

Motorist Charged — Robert F. Burger, Mansfield R. D. 6, was booked yesterday for traffic court on Nov. 27 on a speeding charge.

Mansfielder Arrested — Joe Erwin, 117½ Park avenue east, was turned over to Lima authorities yesterday on a grand larceny charge, police said.

Platform Planned—Painter Confectionery corporation, North Mulberry street, today was issued a permit for the construction of a $1,000 loading platform.

Car Stolen — The Paul Auxter garage, Park avenue west, reported a 1942 sedan owned by E. C. Brandt, of Crestline, was stolen last night from the parking lot of the garage.

Robbery Reported — W. S. Wachenschwanz, 97 East Third street, told police he was held up and robbed of 75 cents by two men at 11:20 p. m. yesterday on East Sixth street.

Held For Investigation — A Springmill road man was held for investigation today in connection with the passing of two worthless $5 checks at the Bazley market and the Bargain Spot, both on North Main street.

Break-in Thwarted — An attempted breaking and entering at the Joe Diemer service station on Park avenue west early this morning was reported today by police. A key was found broken off in the lock, but no entry was made, police said.

Returned From Dayton—James E. Tillman was to be returned from Dayton today by Richland county sheriff's officers to face a charge of non-support of a four-year-old child, filed in common pleas court by his former wife, Madalene Tillman.

Money Stolen—John Miller, 302 Dudley avenue, told police yesterday that thieves entered his shop at the rear of 148 North Main street and stole a metal box containing $8. He said the theft occurred during the past three or four days while he was on a hunting trip.

Closed Thanksgiving — The Mansfield State Employment Service office will be closed all day next Thursday in observance of Thanksgiving. Claimants for unemployment insurance who ordinarily report on that day will report on Dec. 5 and during a two-week period thereafter.

Woman Falls—Mrs. Ruth McGinty, of Plymouth, received a bruised knee and a torn stocking yesterday when she fell over a post extending over the Central park sidewalk, police reported. Officers said the post was believed to be part of the frame work for Christmas decorations being erected in the down-town area.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

Ethel Barrymore tells about the time Modjeska, the tempestuous Polish actress, came to London to take the feminine lead in a new play opposite Ethel's father.

The fact that Modjeska was virtually unknown in London didn't stop her from staging a series of tantrums and hysterical fits. Finally, the elder Barrymore lost his temper completely and shouted, "Woman, shut up! I am the star of this company."

"You dare say that to me?" she screamed. "Me, the great Modjeska?"

"Let me remind you, madame," he answered, "that I am a Barrymore. Here in London, the people do not know whether you are a woman or a tooth powder."

In New Orleans, an author told James Cain that book critics were simply weird in their ignorance and often confused themselves with God. He added hastily, "The confusion is unjustified."

Files Court Claim To Clear Account

On file in municipal court today was a petition for $552 which Richard N. Lane, sr., 179 Carpenter road, claims is owed him by Howard Kern, 324 West Longview avenue, in the sale of a peanut and gum vending machine route.

Lane alleges Kern agreed to pay $1,000 for the route but still owes him $500 on the route and $52 for peanuts and gum. Lane states that the route consisted of 85 machines on location and 20 in reserve.

INFANT DIES FROM BEATING; YOUTH JAILED

19-Year-Old Boy Admits He 'Cuffed' Baby.

MEDIA, Pa. — (INS) — Roy Shifflett, 19, of Harrisonburg, Va., was being held without bail today on charges of murdering a 14-month-old Chester baby who "got on his nerves."

Fred Jack, Delaware county detective chief, said Shifflet admitted beating little Larry Mack to death and also confessed trouncing the victim's sister, Diane, four, while acting as a "baby-sitter."

The child died in Chester hospital Monday, Jack said, from a frontal fracture of the skull apparently inflicted "with a club or heavy stick." Detectives said Shifflett insisted he used only his open hand to cuff the baby.

Larry's mother, Mrs. Marion Mack, 20, was in Mercy hospital where her third child was stillborn last Friday. Her estranged husband is living in Baltimore, police said.

Jack said Shifflett, a friend of Mrs. Mack's, came to Chester to take care of the two children while their mother was in the hospital. Police stated that Shifflett admitted he was sought in Virginia on charges of aggravated assault and battery.

British War Bride Expecting Quads

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Charles Henn, jr., and his British wife had a problem today—finding a new home for a family expecting quadruplets.

"We haven't had a chance to figure out what we'll do," said Henn, a 28-year-old bookbinder, after his wife told him of her physician's forecast of quads, expected in February. X-rays have shown the foursome to be on its way.

Prostate Gland Trouble?

I'm a railroad man and for over 3 years had difficulty working because of backaches due to Prostate Gland trouble. Doctor's formula proved of great benefit and before and since his death have sold them (now called Watt's Suppositories) to railroad men and others the country over. Fine testimonials and repeat business show the good work they do. Backache, getting up nights, often indicate an inflamed Prostate Gland. I guarantee your money back if not given relief. One Dozen Watt's Suppositories. $1.25: 2¼ dozen for $2.50. For Sale at Lautsbaugh Pharmacy.—Adv.

Autoist Loses $2 and Sleep

Dine Vangeloff, 68 Harker street, is out $2 today—and a lot of sleep.

He told police that a man, whom he did not identify, forced him to take him for a ride. When the car went into a ditch on a lonely side road, Vangeloff said, the man "took what change I had and left."

The man was first encountered at Sixth and Main street during yesterday morning's wee hours, Vangeloff said, when he got into the car and the pair drove out the Upper Lucas road.

Five hours after the robbery, Vangeloff said, a motorist came along and helped him get his car out of the ditch.

Famed Editor Villard Finds His Long Career Worthwhile

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK— (AP) —Looking back today on fifty turbulent years of newspaper work, Oswald Garrison Villard, dean of American press liberals, said quietly:

"I'd do it over again. If I had my life to live over, I'd go into journalism again." There is no profession like it. It offers the greatest opportunity a man can find to serve his country and advance its welfare."

At seventy-four the bent scholarly editor finds present day American newspapers politically fairer than those of his youth, more informing on world affairs, more independent of advertiser pressure, but—

"They still don't do their entire duty in forwarding progressive movements and helping the underdog in our political and social life as they should."

As to the future of liberalism? "My nature is optimistic, but you tell me what will happen to the atom bomb and I will tell you what the future of liberalism is."

Favors Equality.

He said he wouldn't try to define liberalism, but in his own life he has fought editorially against war, and for oppressed people—"the Jews, Negroes or anybody else"—for social legislation to better the lot of the individual worker, and championed free trade "as a sure avenue to peace."

"Communism," he continued, "is the direct antithesis of liberalism in most respects. Liberalism can't pay the price of obtaining equality along Russian lines. That would mean destruction of the four freedoms."

Villard started his career 50 years ago this week as a reporter on the Philadelphia press and got $10 for a 75-hour week.

"That was ridiculous," he smiled, "I asked for more money and they raised me to $12."

Having proved to his own satisfaction he could make his own way if he had to independently of help from his father, Henry Villard, financier and railroad builder, young Villard returned to New York and at the age of 28 took over the direction of the Evening Post. For decades he wielded a history-making influence in liberal legislation through the Evening Post and the Weekly magazine, The Nation, which he owned for many years.

"At the turn of the century," he remarked, "there weren't more than two dozen editorial writers in the country who really knew what as going on abroad. Our entrance into two world wars changed that. Now the papers have to deal with foreign affairs."

Feels News Letdown.

He feels also that there has been something of a letdown in news quality by the presentation of more "trivial and unimportant matters" and the wide use of such entertainment features as "crossword puzzles, women's fashions and comic strips."

The public figure he has most respect for is Grover Cleveland. As no other president, Villard says, "he was absolutely immovable in his principles and couldn't be shaken from his stand by political considerations."

Villard sees the chief problems of modern liberalism as the elimination of war from the world, control of the atom bomb along the lines of the Baruch plan, and the eventual development of a one-world government, which he believes would be speeded by adoption of Churchill's proposal for a United States of Europe.

"Whether we hate her or like her," he said, "Germany was the industrial heart of Europe. And we have put that heart out of business. And so France, Holland and other Allies are paying a high price for the general disorganization."

In the twilight of a fighting career—he sold his press interests several years ago and nominally "retired"—he is as busy as ever, adding to his list of nine books and writing numerous articles.

"Have a smoke," the Ohio Safety Council suggests—followed by the warning, "but not in bed."

With the price of soap advancing, one observer comments, "It's getting so that cleanliness is next to bankruptcy."

A check-up reveals that six states in the U. S. allow girls of 12 to marry legally—which indicates that the home missionary field has not yet been fully covered.

Reduce Taxes, But Not Too Much

WHILE Republicans are talking seriously about making a 20 per cent tax cut, some observers are inclined to question the practicability of any such reduction and are advising consideration of not more than a 10 per cent scale-down for next year.

One point being raised is that talk about a substantial tax reduction is linked with what sounds like a determined effort to "balance the budget," and if the budget is to be balanced, tax revenues will have to be high enough to defray all necessary government expenses.

Even with a drastic cut-down of government employes, and elimination of many New Deal and war-born bureaus, it is difficult to see how enough can be cut from the $41,000,000 budget to permit more than moderate tax reductions.

Another phase of the tax reduction problem is that present large tax income results from what is regarded as "a high level of prosperity" and that anything more than a mild business recession would cause tax revenues to drop sharply and to bring calls for additional spending by the government.

All in all, it appears that those who advise the incoming congress to "go slow" on tax reductions have the stronger side of the argument.

Recognition Being Given Amvet Post

STEADILY gaining in membership among veterans of World War II, the Amvets are rapidly taking a prominent place in community affairs. It is therefore highly appropriate that McVey post of the American Legion—an outstanding World War I veterans' organization—give recognition to the newer group. This is being done tonight at the Memorial building where a detail from McVey post will present handsome colors to the Amvet post.

A noteworthy touch will be given the ceremony by the presence of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Spreng, parents of Robert P. Spreng one of the first Richland countians to lose his life in World War II, and in whose memory the local Amvet post is named.

Also present will be Amvet State Commander Fred J. Milligan who will give the address of the evening. Following the address the post will hold open house—an excellent opportunity for the many friends of this comparatively new but active organization to pay their respects to the men who fought in the war and who are now banded together to further community interests as well as their own.

Some Mistaken Ideas About 'Rights'

SO MUCH is being said about individual "rights," and so much emphasis placed on the "freedom" of everyone in this country to do as he likes, that an impression has been gaining ground that some people have a wrong conception of what is meant by "rights," and are inclined to regard exhibitions of selfishness as a "right."

Clear-thinking Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, and internationally known newspaper man, in discussing the subject of "rights," presents this timely observation: "No matter what a strong opinion I may have as to law and custom, I have no real, moral right to do anything that definitely hurts somebody else. Here is a consideration which transcends law and custom. Organized society, civilization itself, is a system of living together based on the idea of harmony and the well-being of all men."

Citing an example of mistaken sense of liberty, Mr. Patterson says: "No truer words were ever spoken by an American than those of Calvin Coolidge when he told the policemen of Boston that they did not have the right to strike. Does anyone think that a strike that cuts off milk from children or heat, light and power from a hospital is based on any 'right'?"

This subject is particularly timely at the moment and reference is being made to it despite the suggestion contained in a letter just received, touching on an editorial comment made last Saturday: "We will thank you kindly to keep your nose out of our affairs."

Testing Time For Five Small Boys

THOSE five boys—ranging in age from 9 to 14 years—who are on eight-weeks' probation from juvenile court, may, if they are so disposed, turn this unpleasant episode into a valuable experience.

Lacking full information, it may be assumed that these children have had little if any instruction on how to distinguish between right and wrong, and the 9 to 14 age range is one in which a "follow the leader" instinct is particularly strong.

While habits are being formed long before the age of nine, none is yet so firmly fixed that it cannot be broken, and any mentally normal child of 14 is still able to change a course that has been found dangerous—as in this instance of confessed petty thievery.

Newspaper practice is to omit the names of youthful offenders, so that no stigma may attach in the event of future good behavior. It will be hoped that any future reference to these boys will permit mention of their names in connection with creditable behavior, so that their parents may feel proud of them rather than shamed by their conduct.

From New Orleans comes the story of a Communist who was to speak only 15 minutes making the mistake of being introduced by another Communist who used up 20 minutes of the speaker's time.

Moscow's Pravda now comes out with the crack: "Americans are politically immature"—lacking, of course, the long experience in self government that has been enjoyed in Russia.

According to a naturalist, "fish have no means of communication," which may account for your getting no response when you drop them a line.

As viewed by the Kansas City Star: "A wing and a prayer make an inspiring slogan but a blamed monotonous dinner menu."

Canadians have developed a smut-proof variety of oats. and Harry Wade suggests crossing it with domestic popular fiction.

REMINDFUL OF PEARL HARBOR

Optimism Over Tax Reduction Is Based On Unsound Assumptions

By RAYMOND MOLEY

THE MAIN defect in the optimistic fiscal promises of Republican house leaders is the assumption that we can enjoy the income benefits of higher prices without paying for them in federal expenditures. The house leaders are talking about eating their cake and keeping it, too.

One of the great surprises in the president's revised budget estimates of August, 1946, was the rise in anticipated individual income tax receipts for the fiscal year 1947.

In the president's January budget message, these receipts were estimated at $12,874,000,000. In August, they were increased to $18,367,000,000. This made up the greater part of the increase—from $33 billion to 41 billion—in the total anticipated revenues. Apparently, the Republicans believe that the larger figure will apply to the next fiscal year. This is an extremely dangerous assumption.

The tremendous national income of 1946, which will be higher than the highest of the war years, is based on several factors which are not likely to recur. It is, in part, based on something that the optimists themselves intend to reduce—government spending. It is based on the prices that ran away from Chester Bowles and rose again after ceilings were lifted. It is based on the spending of money saved by individuals in war years.

Moreover, if we are to get $40 billion from federal taxes after the rates are cut by 20 per cent, we shall have to have sharp wage, price and other increases from July, 1947 to July, 1948.

A preponderance of opinion among economists is that such increases are not likely. Many wise heads believe that there will be decreases.

Certainly, there will be some decline in agriculture. Secretary Anderson has already told us to expect agricultural surpluses in the latter half of 1947.

He has also said that he expects the demand for agricultural products to turn downward. This means that the purchasing power of agriculture will decline.

Moreover, if we are to have any considerable number of strikes, our national income in 1947 must be affected adversely. Only an industrial peace that passeth all understanding can keep the purchasing power of industrial workers at the 1946 level.

If we are to have further wage increases, we can assume that even the August figure of the cost of government must go up by a billion or so because of increased prices of what government must buy. That increase would certainly go on into the prices paid by government in 1947.

Those who are suggesting a 20-per cent cut in individual income tax rates say that such a cut will increase business, presumably by increasing investment money and purchasing power. In short, investment money would be available among big income tax payers and purchasing money among small income tax payers.

With reference to investment money, it is doubtful whether such additional investment supply is needed or would substantially help.

There is plenty of capital available at low rates. As one wise economist says, "You can pull money into business; you can't push it."

As to more money for purchasing, there is plenty of purchasing power now. The issue is lack of things to buy. More money in the hands of small buyers will mean more material for inflation, as long as commodities are scarce.

The decisive question is where and how to cut expenditures.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Nov. 21, 1926.

First Congregational church was re-dedicated, following re-decoration of interior at cost of $18,000. An addition, planned to cost $60,000 was to be completed later. Sermon by Rev. Harry Trust, pastor.

Plans for new warehouse and addition to foundry were announced by the Barnes Manufacturing company.

Thelma Watts, 27 Garfield Place, city tennis champion, underwent emergency appendicitis operation at General hospital.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Connell, Central avenue.

Fire department was called to home of Joseph Bein, 73 Western avenue, to extinguish blaze when auto caught fire in garage.

Frank C. Poling was appointed on the classification committee of Kiwanis International.

* * *

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

Temperature dropped to near zero.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

November 21, 1918, is remembered as the day on which General Pershing and the American Expeditionary Forces liberated Luxembourg.

Dave Boone Says:

PROFESSOR EINSTEIN and eight fellow scientists are after a million dollars so they can arouse you and me to the fact that the atomic bomb means our finish if we don't cancel it out by working tooth and nail to make another war impossible.

* * *

A million for a job as important and as that is mere cigaret money. It's cheap at a hundred times the price.

The professor wants to drive home six facts, chief among which are these: (1) There is no chance other nations will not make atomic bombs, if they're not doing it this minute; (2) It is possible to turn them out cheaply and in quantity production. (3) There is no defense whatever against them, and (4) If the world don't stop being dumb and permits another war it will wipe out civilization.

* * *

Well, you would think human beings would be smart enough to swallow those simple facts without million-dollar educational funds, but it don't look that way. I can name at least 50 so-called dumb animals that are smarter when they look their own finish in the eye.

Calvin A. Byers

Farmer's Diary: "The Old Musician."

(Lyle Garber)

IT IS a common sight, each morning of the week—each Sabbath afternoon—to see a frail little old man walk slowly down our village Main street. He pauses to look carefully at each new sign or advertisement in the business windows. The drug store is a favorite spot. Here at the front, he stands among stacks of daily newspapers and scans the headlines for important news. Sometimes he lifts the paper a little closer. He is 92, and his eyes are without spectacles.

The other day I was in the post-office when he came in. It was chilly, and his large threadbare overcoat reached to his high-topped shoes. First he looked into his box and found it empty. Then he took the chair that stands in the small lobby and carried it to the place he wished, and sat down, contentedly. He smiled at a little girl who ran in and out, greeting him by name.

It was late afternoon. Suddenly a rift was formed between two black clouds low in the west and the sun shone through, lighting up the whole plate glass window, and touching with light the aged, wrinkled, peaceful face that lifted to catch the reflected rays. The old eyes sparkled and the smooth shaven kindly visage beamed as with some inner light. I marveled at the strange transfiguration. Perhaps only a very old man who had come down to us from a former generation by living simply and well, whose life had had one great central thought of doing good, could be like that.

In his day, he was the highly respected music teacher of the whole village and surrounding neighborhood. Many a grandmother can point to him with pride and say, "He taught me to play and to love rhythm and melody." Now his hearing isn't so keen, but in his own mind he must be entertained by the rich music of Mozart, Bach, Schubert, Beethoven and Dvorak.

He told me once, with a twinkle in his pale blue eye, that he used to hold singing schools, every winter time, in the log schoolhouses around, when the forests were first cleared. His pupils sat upon log benches with hewn logs for their desks. He used to tune pianos, and conduct concert recitals in surrounding neighborhoods, in the horse and buggy days.

"What then, shall we sit idly down and say
The night has come, it is no longer day?
For age is opportunity no less
Than youth itself, though in another dress,
And as the evening twilight fades away
The sky is filled with stars invisible by day."

Taft and Bridges Subdue Knutson On Policy of 20 Per Cent Tax Cut

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Senate and house Republican leaders exuded harmony on most things in their secret caucus last week, but there was some strong punching and counter-punching on the question of taxes.

The debate illustrates the fundamental difference between house Republicans and their counterpart in the senate.

While GOPeers in the house have been waving their arms about cutting taxes, more statesmanlike leaders in the senate have urged a go-slow policy, all of which came to a head in the GOP caucus last week.

When it was over, raucous Harold Knutson of Minnesota, chairman-to-be of the ways and means committee, which initiates tax legislation—was wearing a meek and subdued expression.

Knutson had hopes of selling senate GOP leaders on sweeping tax reductions, but Senators Bob Taft of Ohio and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire quickly disillusioned him.

The cocky Minnesotan opened the secret meeting with a demand that the Republican party commit itself to a 20 per cent, across-the-board cut in federal income taxes.

"The voters want us to cut taxes," said Knutson, "and I think we ought to agree on what we are going to do right now, so we will be ready to press for speedy enactment of a tax bill after January."

Speaker-elect Joe Martin of Massachusetts echoed the same view, but Taft and Bridges insisted that the GOP should first take steps to balance the budget and pare the national debt.

"Before reducing taxes, let's find out if it is possible to do so, and by how much," declared Taft. "Our first objective should be a balanced budget."

Knutson, who had expected to dominate the tax discussion, finally gave up with a reluctant sigh when he saw he wasn't getting anywhere.

Note: Senate GOP leaders have privately agreed that if Knutson is able to steam-roller a tax reduction through the house, it will get a long beauty sleep in the senate finance committee, of which Taft is an important member, until the budget and the national debt are tackled.

U. S. Hugs Veto.

The American delegation's recent flip-flop on the veto at the United Nations was no accident. Here is the inside story.

For weeks, U. S. diplomats have poured cold water on the Russians for demanding their right to veto. Despite this, Senator Tom Connally of Texas made a speech for continuing the veto. However, the gentleman from Texas was not acting on his own. His speech was carefully prepared and discussed in detail during inner council meetings of the state department.

At these sessions, it was pointed out that the Communists were now the strongest party in France, that Communists might come into power in China, and that British labor is rebelling at Bevin's anti-Russian policy. Therefore, the United States might find the veto shoe on the other foot. Instead of Russia being outvoted at council sessions, the United States might find itself in the minority and anxious to fall back on the veto.

In other words, as long as France, Britain and China were certain to line up with the USA, we were quite willing to change the veto. But now that things are swinging the other way, we aren't.

Political Chaff.

President Truman has no illusions about his ability to get along with the new GOP congress. He knows Bob Taft too well. Despite Truman's conciliatory message to the nation last week, he believes it'll be a constant battle with the Republicans once the honeymoon is over. . . . Bob Hannegan gets the doctor's verdict this week as to whether he can remain on as postmaster general. He is certain to resign as Democratic national chairman. . . . The following defeated Democrats will bet federal jobs—if they want them: Jim Mead (N.Y.), Joe Guffey (Penn.), Hugh Mitchell (Wash.) and Gov. Maurice Tobin (Mass.) . . . The man to succeed statesman Senator Vandenberg of Michigan as chairman of the Republican senate conference will be Colorado's hard-boiled Sen. Eugene Millikin.

. . . Attorney General Tom Clark, who hails from Dallas, Texas, was at Bob Hannegan's cocktail party at the Sherry-Netherland when asked to sing "Deep in the Heart of Texas." Friends are still kidding Tom about the fact that he didn't know the words. . . . Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle is resisting presidential pressure to join the White House secretariat after January 3. The astute and popular Biffle wants to remain on Capitol Hill as secretary to the Democratic senatorial minority.

From Diplomatic Pouch.

William Burden, now assistant secretary of commerce, may be the new assistant secretary of state for air. This is the same William Burden who contributed $1,000 to the Democrats in 1944 and another $1,000 to the Republicans. There's nothing like playing both sides of the street. . . . Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes has been seriously considering breaking diplomatic relations with Roumania, Hungary and Jugoslavia—a drastic step—if those countries continue to ignore the rights of American citizens. . . . The British foreign office has been moving Heaven and earth to prevent Marshal Tito from dealing direct with the left-wing Italian government regarding Trieste.

Moves on the Political Checkerboard.

WASHINGTON — Senator George D. Aiken has a hillside farm in Putney, Vt.

His house sits part way up the hill. The farm all about it is so hilly, a typical New England farm, that it is said it's a miracle one of the senator's legs is not shorter than the other.

On the front porch is a rocking chair, one of those with a stationary base. There, in off seasons of farm work and during recesses of congress, the senator often rocks and meditates.

He is a philosophical gentleman, living close to the earth and loving nature as he does.

From his hillside he has come, through the years, to take the long and objective and charitable view of the world and its people and its problems.

Like many of his background and experience, he is inclined to be what is called liberal or progressive in his thinking. He revealed that when he was governor of Vermont. He has revealed it since in the senate. It disturbs some of his more orthodox Republican brethren, particularly Senator Taft of Ohio.

There is a time for philosophical meditation, also a time for action.

This is just to remark that perhaps it would be a good thing for Senator Aiken to leave his rocker, or whatever farm chores now occupy him, and get down here to Washington.

For Senator Taft, who is very busy now organizing congress, the lives of his fellow Republicans, and the whole state of the union, is pushing the Vermont senator around on the checkerboard of his plans, like a pawn, as he is other folks, trying to get a pattern that will suit Senator Taft—and the GOP Old Guard.

The maneuvers are complicated, characteristic of Senator Taft, but with patience it is possible to follow them.

The plot of the Ohio senator and some of his colleagues is to keep Senator Aiken from having anything to do with labor regulatory legislation, which will be a chief Republican concern in the new congress.

They want to block the Vermont senator because he has been friendly to labor. He was the only Republican to join with eight Democrats last session to try to prevent senate consideration of the Case labor bill which President Truman vetoed, and which seems to be the general design of Senator Taft and the Old Guard in the new congress.

Senator Aiken is in line for chairmanship of the labor committee. Senator Taft, alone, is ahead of him. But Senator Taft naturally is expected to take chairmanship of the finance committee, for which he is in line, since it is appropriate to his talents, and is one of the most important senate posts.

It has been suggested that, to block Senator Aiken, the Ohio senator might forswear his ambitions and take the labor chairmanship. But there are other maneuvers possible that might do the trick, even though they take no thought of the feelings or aspirations of others.

The denoument of the whole plot is to move Senator Joe Ball of Minnesota into chairmanship of the labor committee, once Senator Aiken is euchered out.

The young senator, who has become a sort of protege of Senator Taft, is proposing legislation along lines of the Case Bill and even beyond, for he would outlaw the closed shop by federal law.

Presto—the cat jumps out of the bag!

Marquis Childs

Canvassing Strength of GOP Liberal Bloc.

WASHINGTON—One of the interesting questions to be answered after January 3 is just how much influence the Liberal bloc inside the top-heavy Republican majority will actually have.

Skeptics believe it will be largely a nuisance bloc, producing much sound and fury but incapable of checkmating the conservatives and reactionaries who want to punish labor.

Speaking of an AFL broadcast after the election, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, a most articulate champion of Liberalism and also a member of the education and labor committee, gave his assurance that the new congress would not pass unduly restrictive laws. He mentioned specifically the Case bill.

Shortly before he left for a tour of Europe the other day, I asked Morse to name the Republican senators who could be counted on to vote against such restrictive measures as the Case bill, with its long cooling-off period before a strike could be called. First, he made it plain that he is in favor of revision of the Wagner Act and in favor of a law which would prohibit jurisdictional strikes. Organized labor must accept these correctives, in his view.

But when it came down to naming Republican senators who would stand up and be counted against restrictive legislation, Morse was hard put to it. Among Republicans carried over or re-elected, he included Senators Aiken of Vermont, Tobey of New Hampshire, Knowland of California, Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Langer of North Dakota.

Among the incoming senators, he listed Cain of Washington, Flanders of Vermont, Lodge of Massachusetts, Ives of New York, Thye of Minnesota, and Malone of Nevada. That adds up to 11 votes, and some are questionable. To this number might be added the new Republican senator from Kentucky, John S. Cooper, who was supported by the Liberal Louisville Courier-Journal.

Counting all possible Democrats who could be expected to oppose drastic anti-labor legislation, you come out with the figure 19. Thirty or 31 votes is far short of a majority, and Morse is likely to find it very difficult to live up to his pledge to the AFL.

But before these votes are counted, the Republicans themselves will have to decide how they are going to resolve the differences within their own party.

If they pass over Aiken and if Taft assumes the important chairmanship of the labor committee, in addition to his job as working boss of the new majority, it will be a clear signal that the so-called Liberal bloc will be on the outside looking in.

It will mean that the conservatives and reactionaries are convinced they are set so solidly that they can ignore the dissenting minority.

Hunters Stole a Dog.

Editor News-Journal:

Have you ever wondered why farmers are sometimes "cranky" about letting people from town hunt on their property? Here is one of the reasons.

The day hunting season opened two men came to our farm to hunt. They did not ask our permission to hunt on our farm but that was all right with us. We had a black Springer spaniel that loved to hunt. When he heard the shots from the hunters, he ran where they were hunting.

The dog followed them to another farm and when the men started to their car to go home, our dog started down the road home. The men whistled and called the dog back and coaxed him in their car and drove off with him.

Neighbors who saw the men, thought they were relatives or friends of ours, so said nothing at all to them. But they furnished us with enough information about the men and car that we could have police get the dog back.

From now on our farm, too, will be posted with "No Hunting" signs and anyone found trespassing will be "run-out."

We have five children who miss their dog terribly and would appreciate it if the men would bring the dog back and turn him loose.

Judge, Mrs. W. C. Wiseman On Trip to Florida, Cuba

FOR her wedding to Judge William C. Wiseman of Dayton yesterday morning, Miss Mary Kathryn Newcomer was attired in a tailored gray dress-maker suit of gabardine with which she wore gray accessories, a gray felt hat trimmed with matching feathers and an ice-blue blouse. Her corsage was a spray of white orchids.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. V. A. Reidlinger in the parsonage of St. Peter's Catholic church at 9 a. m.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Newcomer, 76 Dawson avenue while Judge Wiseman is the son of Joseph Wiseman of Germantown, O.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. John Newcomer of Lexington, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Newcomer chose a brown tailored gabardine suit with brown accessories and taupe blouse. Brown orchids formed her corsage.

Mrs. Newcomer selected a beige suit and accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The wedding breakfast at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for the immediate families was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother.

After the first of the year the couple will be at home at 434 Grand avenue, Dayton.

The bride, a graduate of St. Peter's high school, was formerly secretary in the county engineer's office. Judge Wiseman, judge of the court of appeals of the second district of Ohio, was graduated from the University of Cincinnati law college.

Mrs. Eugene Linham Talks on Food Shortage at Sorosis Chapter Session

"The Truth About Our World Food Shortage" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Eugene Linham when members of the Beta chapter of Mansfield Sorosis met at the home of Mrs. Virt Simpson, Westview boulevard last night.

Noting that although experts anticipated a famine in the wake of the war, Mrs. Linham stated that there was no preparation for the unfavorable weather which followed the making of the peace.

Wheat, she said, is the solution to the world famine problem as it is easily shipped and has a high food value.

She also discussed the function of the food and agricultural organization, a permanent international body whose chief purpose is to improve agricultural methods.

Mrs. John Swigart attended as a guest.

Mrs. H. Owen Fighter will be hostess Dec. 4 at her home on Atcheson avenue.

Re-Election Held In Church Room

Officers of the Second district of the First Lutheran church were re-elected Wednesday as the group met in the church assembly room with Mrs. E. L. Becker, Mrs. Mary Ross, Mrs. Harry Simmons and Mrs. Philo Phifer as hostesses.

Elected to serve again next year are Mrs. Sadie Doolittle, president; Mrs. C. C. Hout, vice president; Mrs. Earl J. Lowry, secretary, and Mrs. A. T. Sneeringer, assistant secretary.

Mrs. C. M. Hanna was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. C. W. Mitchell as a guest. Mrs. D. Herring had charge of the program which consisted of a Thanksgiving story, "The Widening Hearth." Prize for a contest was won by Mrs. Frank Berkey. The next meeting will be the Christmas covered-dish dinner and gift exchange at the home of Mrs. C. C. Hout, Arlington avenue, Dec. 18.

Reil Home Is Scene of Missionary Session

Mrs. Clara Reil, Garfield place, entertained members of the Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church last night with Mrs. Etta Rusk as associate hostess.

Mrs. William Shane spoke on India and a talk on Africa was presented by Mrs. Virgil Kirkpatrick, a missionary.

Mrs. W. F. Wilson, Highland avenue, will be hostess Dec. 18.

Girls Should Not Write Fan Letters to Celebrities

By EMILY POST

A mother asks me: "Do you approve of girls writing fan letters to movie stars?"

A short note of intelligent appreciation of a part played well is a delight to every actor and actress. Unhappily, however, the usual letters sent by young girls to actors are silly, in which case the answer is definitely, "No!" Perhaps the best deterrent I can offer is to remind girls that those really popular actors cannot open more than a fraction of the letters themselves, but must rely on secretaries. The young girl's letter will be read first by someone else, who hands it to the star only when worth his attention.

Dear Mrs. Post: On what occasion, outside of stag parties, should a husband be invited to dinner without his wife being invited also? My husband's office, and also his Sunday school, frequently give dinners and they never include the wives, which I think is carrying business and church work too far.

Answer: If at all these occasions when your husband is invited alone, no women are present, you have no cause for complaint. But if you, let us say, were the only one (or one of a few) left out, then you (and they) would have cause for complaint.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a waiter brings a dish for me to look at, what am I supposed to say or do?

Answer: In the deluxe restaurants, the waiter presents each dish to the host or hostess for inspection—to be sure the dish has his or her approval, which is given by nodding assent. The waiter then takes it to a side table and carves it or serves it as is.

Two Mothers Clubs Meet at Schools

Plans for an auction the first part of the year were made at the meeting of the Lincoln Heights Mothers club last night.

Mrs. Harry Sweet conducted the meeting at the school. Prizes were won by Mrs. Leland Hawkins and Mrs. Robert Forshee. Dec. 11 there will be a gift exchange at the school cafeteria with Mrs. Kenneth Nixon and Mrs. F. C. Riblet in charge.

Springfield Mothers

Mrs. George Price conducted the meeting of the Springfield Township Mothers club last night at the school. Mrs. Boyd Keifer gave the prayer, and C. L. Stingel, principal was the speaker.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Betts, Mrs. L. M. Burkepile and Mrs. J. D. Volesky.

Dec. 18 the group will meet at 1 p. m. for a covered dish luncheon and musical program.

Rainbow Girls Hear Report

Order of Rainbow for Girls, conducted by Worthy Advisor Miss Coleen Stewart, held a meeting in K. of P. hall Wednesday evening. Miss Betty Hopper gave a report on the program which was presented to three Masonic groups at the temple Nov. 14.

A reminder was given of the Christmas formal dance to be held in the Mansfield-Leland ballroom, Dec. 21, with Speros Karas and his orchestra. Following the meeting entertainment centering around the Thanksgiving theme was given.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, November 22.

An exceptionally promising and expansive state of affairs, business, financial, professional, social and romantic is indicated by a most auspicious combination of planetary aspects. It is a time to reach for high goals and cherished hopes and wishes, with genuine zeal, confidence and exuberance as well. Much is assured by use of the personal elements, with charm, magnetism and cultural factors. Home and social life are keyed to happy and lasting felicity. Parties and celebrations are in order.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a period of expansion, preferment, progress and much of personal gain as well as happiness and good fortune. Luck may play a significant part in this propitious situation, but efficiency, high ambition, fine aspirations are heightened and enhanced by a sensitive use of the personality, with its charms, magnetism and grace. Results may demonstrate in tangible business and financial emoluments and pledges, and in social or romantic engagements, with festivity and joy.

A child born on this day is bounteously endowed with many talents, capabilities, graces, and aspirations for a useful, happy and romantic career.

More than eight million pounds of fresh fruits and vegetables are wasted annually by careless shoppers. Use your eyes, not your hands.

NEED OF ARMY TRAINING SEEN BY EISENHOWER

Slash in Strength Would Be False Economy, General Tells CIO Members.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower believes "some degree" of universal training is needed until the nations of the world disarm.

Current short enlistments have caused a lowering of army efficiency, Eisenhower said yesterday afternoon in a speech to the eighth CIO convention.

The general, upon whom some CIO leaders look with favor as a 1948 Democratic candidate for president, said failure now to provide the nation's "interim army" of 1,070,000 men with enough supplies would not be economy—"it is recklessness which we cannot afford."

Eisenhower said:

"It is my earnest conviction that until concerted disarmament is an accomplished fact, the security of our country as well as the individual's chances in the deplorable event of another war demand some degree of military training of all our young men.

"I do not mean to stress the subject of war. Particularly do I deplore talk about the inevitability of war. Such talk smacks of the Hitler technique that brought the world to sorrow and his country to ruin.

"It produces hysterics—and no man, no nation, ever acted or thought wisely in the grip of hysterical fear.

"But I would be failing in my duty were I to disregard our own bitter disillusionment since 1917 and our need to assume the great burdens that realistic appreciation of conditions forces upon us.

"One of our present difficulties is that, because of the short term periods of service which congress recently found it necessary to authorize, we have a turnover of well over 40 per cent per annum.

"As you would expect, these short-term enlistments are proving unreasonably expensive due to the large proportion of the individual's service that is spent in elementary training, in transit overseas and in terminal leave. . . .

"Their efficiency is relatively low. Our aim is, then, to procure three-year voluntary enlistments."

In praising labor organizations for their wage and hour gains, Eisenhower said:

"My own work-week during the year before I entered the army in 1911 was 84 hours."

Worker Wants 4 Million for Washing Time

TOLEDO—(AP)—For time spent by employes in washing, changing clothes and walking on company premises to and from a time clock, Ernest H. Love has filed a $4,000,000 back wage suit against the Doe Ler-Jarvis corporation, in federal district court.

On behalf of himself and more than 200 employees, Love asked $2,000,000 in back wages plus an equal amount of liquidated damages. The pay allegedly covers 30 minutes daily over a period of six years.

David A. Guberman, attorney for the employees, said the suit was based on provisions of the wage and hour act and the fair labor standards act of 1938, and a recent supreme court decision covering portal-to-portal pay.

Love is chief steward of Local 706, international union, Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, CIO.

Peter Zvara, district director of the union, said similar suits were planned against the company for employes in plants in Chicago, Pottstown, Pa., and Batavia, N. Y.

FALLS IN HOT WATER

TIFFIN—(U.P.)—Deanna Mae Lawrence, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lawrence, was reported in serious condition at a local hospital today from burns suffered last night when she fell into a bucket of scalding water at her home.

NURSE TRAINEES TO BE ADMITTED

The Massillon State hospital at Massillon will admit freshman nurses into its school on nursing next Jan. 2, Louise Aul, director of the school, announced today. The class will be limited to 16 students.

It will mark the first non-cadet class to be admitted since the September class of 1946 was omitted to permit reorganization from the war-time service of the U. S. Public Health service cadet nurse program.

The director said the change was being made because peacetime nursing requires a longer period of time in the home school. Trainees receive $30 a month while serving at the state hospital nursing school, the director said.

YMCA USED MORE

BUCYRUS—The board of directors of the YMCA heard a report from Secretary E. B. Hagaman at a meeting Monday night advising that 47 meetings of boys groups and 60 gym classes were scheduled in October. Usage of the building in October reached 5,912, an increase of 1,200 over last year's figure for the same month.

BEAUTY AWARD CHANGES HANDS

ANDERSON, S. C. — (INS) — Mrs. Fredda Thompson Acker, Anderson, S. C., the new Mrs. America, is preparing today to make a 20-week tour.

The recently abdicated titleholder, Mrs. Mark Pollack, turned down the $2,500 award connected with the trip because she didn't want to be away from her family that long.

Mrs. Acker says she doesn't know whether she will be permitted to take her student-husband and her 18-months-old son, but she says that she will make the airplane trip regardless.

She plans to leave Anderson about Jan. 1, and she says that she is "thrilled to death and looking forward to the trip."

Mrs. Acker will leave for Jackson, Miss., in a few days, where she will be crowned and receive the prize money.

During the 20-week tour, Mrs. America will wear clothes made in Mississippi.

The attendance at the 930 daily vacation Bible schools, conducted by the Salvation Army last year, was 378,614 young boys and girls.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Why Bert Won First Prize

Folks weren't surprised when Bert Childers won first prize for his corn at the county fair.

Yet the judges admit it wasn't just because Bert had the finest ears of corn. He knew how to display them: neatly arranged, with the husks cleanly trimmed, and the tooth white and spotless.

"Trimmings" sure make a difference no matter what you're offering—as Andy Botkin, keeper of the Garden Tavern, well knows. Andy doesn't just sell good beer. He sells it in a place that's clean and attractive ... in nice surroundings that belong with the enjoyment of a wholesome beverage of moderation.

And Andy, of course, is a wholehearted supporter of "Self Regulation." That's the system by which the Brewers and tavern keepers themselves make sure that taverns selling beer are clean and orderly.

From where I sit, people like Andy also rate a "First prize." Not just for the quality of the product—but for the "trimmings" too.

FIVE FINED IN TRAFFIC COURT

Five persons were fined a total of $50 and costs yesterday in traffic court while three other motorists forfeited a total of $75 in bonds when they failed to appear for hearing on various traffic violation charges.

Case of Jesse E. Newbury, of Ashland, charged with failing to stop after and accident and failure to have driver's license, was continued until next Wednesday.

Fined $15 and costs on a speeding charge was Calvin F. Bartley, of Ashland, while William H. Carroll, jr., of Cleveland, Kenneth Cochran, 507 Wood street, and Lyman C. Savage of Shaker Heights, each were fined $10 and costs on speeding charges.

Leo Klein, of Galion, charged with crossing a yellow line, was fined $5 and costs while $25 appearance bonds were forfeited by Elliot S. Evans, of Ashland, and James Nixon, of Columbus, both booked on speeding charges, and Frank Evans, of Cleveland, charged with crossing a yellow line.

OCTOBER BIRTHS DOUBLED

BUCYRUS—October births in Bucyrus more than doubled the number born here in the same month last year, with a total of 44 new arrivals according to Charles Griffith, registrar of vital statistics. Births to date this year exceed by ten the figure for the same period last year when 351 births were recorded.

RUEFULLY scratching his head, little Forrest (Nubbins) Hoffman is shown in a Denver, Colo., hospital where he is undergoing a periodic examination. Two years ago, the youngster became the object of national sympathy when death threatened to cheat him out of celebrating Christmas. A delicate bladder operation at the time saved the little fellow's life.

Knee Knockers Rate Ace High In Broadway Hoofer's Book, If That's Any Consolation

By ROBERT RICHARDS

NEW YORK — (UP) —Knock-kneed women had a champion today in Broadway hoofer Richard Stuart. He claims they're the nicest girls of all, and the sexiest looking.

Dr. Bert Pollins, a cynical psychologist and executive secretary of the New York Consulting Center, said "maybe," but Stuart maintains the reasons are twofold and obvious.

"I'm surprised that more people haven't mentioned it," he said.

"In the first place, knock-kneed girls have a swaying motion in their hips. And it's always interesting.

"In the second place, they think they're under a definite handicap (what with most people viewing the matter differently from Brother Stuart) and they work harder at being nice to people.

"They become extroverts, and develop a smooth, even personality."

Stuart cited actresses Gene Tierney, Betty Grable, and rich girls Doris Duke and Barbara Hutton as living exhibits

"They're knock-kneed, all of them," he insisted "And it hasn't hurt—it's helped them"

Stuart said that these four girls had excellent historic tradition to support them.

"Just check back into history," he challenged, "and you'll discover that Catherine the Great, of Russia, always bumped her knees together Ninon de L'Enclos, a famous beauty of Louis XIV's day, was almost as bad.

"And the worst of them all was the famous Cleopatra."

Stuart, who just has completed a cross-country tour, said that he couldn't help but admire the knock-kneed ladies out in Chicago.

"They've got more of them out there than any place I know," he said. "It was a pleasure to look at them."

Psychologist Pollins said, on the other hand, that the knock-kneed problem "depends on other phases of a person's personality and goes back to the theory of the organic inferiority complex"

Some girls would make knock-knees an asset, Pollins conceded, but most of them would not.

"Jimmy Durante is an outstanding example of what I mean," Dr. Pollins said. "He took a big nose and built his personality and success around it.

"But he's in the minority. Most people with big noses feel pretty sad about it."

Pollins said if a knock-kneed girl did work at overcoming her handicap, she probably would be "nicer to know" than the normal type.

He declined to comment on the sex angle.

"That's a problem for a biologist," he said. "But I'll tell you this—I've known some fat girls who refused to be defeated and managed to look very nice."

Sullivan Wins Jet Plane-Speed Trial

CLEVELAND—(AP)—An average speed of 534.6 miles an hour is the best yet produced in the jet plane speed dashes over an 820-mile closed course, conducted in conjunction with the National Aircraft show.

This speed was set by Capt. J. E. Sullivan of Wright Field Tuesday as he flew a P-80 from the show to Evansville, Ind., and back in one hour, 31 minutes and 52 seconds. Only 44 seconds slower was Maj W. L. Moore, also of Wright Field, who flew the course in the same type plane at average speed of 534 miles an hour.

OSR ESCAPERS CAPTURED AT MILLERSBURG

Four Fugitives, Girl in Custody After Wild Chase.

in a sideswipe accident on U. S. Route 42, south of Lexington, they "got scared" when they heard a woman screaming in the other wrecked automobile

Manly said the youths questioned him this morning as to the condition of "the people in the other car"

Peggy Hamlin, 17, 607 West Fourth street, and her uncle, Walter Hamlin, 37, Mansfield, R. D. 3, were seriously injured in the accident. General hospital reported their condition today was "good."

After the quintet abandoned the car, according to Manly, they cut through a field onto the highway, where they used the girl as a "decoy" for hitch-hiking a ride.

A car containing William J. Bell, 21, of 704 Park avenue east, and Merle Leedy, 22, Bellville, stopped to pick up the girl, and the youths then forced Bell and Leedy into the back seat of the car and drove to Columbus

There the youths forced the Richland county men to exchange their clothing for two of the fugitive's red-striped prison garb, robbed them and left them trussed up in a field near Columbus.

The fugitives next were heard of when they entered the dry cleaning establishment owned by Stanko in Lancastr about 9 p. m., yesterday.

Invade Business Place

Stanko said one of the men and the girl entered the shop, followed by the other men, one of whom threatened him with a shotgun. They rifled the cash register and his pockets, and forced Stanko to accompany them in his car, abandoning Leedy's automobile.

The dry cleaner said the men "roughed me up a bit" because he didn't want to go with them, and later pushed him around in the car when directions he gave didn't suit them.

"They talked about big-time operations and how the police didn't know where they were," Stanko told police. "They wanted to go to Kentucky and West Virginia, but we drove around in circles, sometimes at 70 to 75 miles an hour."

Supt Arthur L Glattke of the reformatory said the men were transferred to the Grafton camp last Sunday. They escaped from there less than two days later.

He said he was "glad to know the boys were captured."

Escaper Pictures Get Speedy Ride

Those pictures you see on the News-Journal's front page today of the four reformatory fugitives are the result of the speedy trip of Don "Whitey" Laser of the News-Journal circulation department who drove to Millersburg to pick up the pictures. He left at 9:20 a. m. and was back at 11:42 a. m. Distance covered: 78 miles "Whitey" isn't saying how he did it, but he reports that he had to wait 45 minutes for the pictures to be developed and printed by Mrs. Bessie Snyder, Millersburg photographer, before he could head back to Mansfield.

the coal fields to prevent violence—but not to mine coal. Unit commanders were alerted.

Government officials also kept an anxious ear to the ground for any manifestations of a general upheaval by labor The AFL with its 7,150,000 union members and the CIO with its 6 000,000 had already thrown their moral support behind the UMW chief.

By resolution at its Atlantic City convention, the CIO termed Goldsborough's order an attempt to impose "economic slavery" on the miners

Green Backs Lewis.

AFL President William Green, in a statement, declared the order "represents force, violence and the threat of punishment."

"All American labor units with the mine workers in condemning this reversion to the archaic philosophy of government by injunction," he said.

Silent to the last, Lewis permitted the 12 01 a. m. deadline to pass without a word—and without revoking his notice that the government-union pact covering 3,300 soft-coal mines and 400,000 miners was "void" at that hour

Mr. Warner's wife, Susa, preceded him in death There are no known near survivors.

The Rev K R. Roberts of the Trinity Lutheran church will officiate and burial will be made in the Monroe Lutheran church.

B'way Confucius: Broadway Is Where One And One Make Talk!

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK — The Republican response to President Truman's appeal for cooperation between a lame-duck president and a Republican congress in the national interest is provisional, but certainly more reassuring than the conduct of Franklin D. Roosevelt and his mischievous band of barber-shop chorists during the fateful months between Roosevelt's first election in 1932 and his first inauguration four months later.

Those were months whose developments turned the course of the world, when a flippant and actually playful group of cynics delighted in the somber appeals of President Herbert Hoover for honest, conscientious help in maintaining the recovery then apparently on the way to some measure of fulfillment. The great war itself might have been averted then, but they joked in their corny, pedagogic way, for they had the mirthless humor of the professor talking dirty to show that he is, after all, a real he-man and one of "the fellows," and it mattered not to them that the nation suffered if Hoover could be made to suffer a little more. The crisis was Hoover's "baby," in Roosevelt's own phrase, and they made faces and pinched it to make it cry, but it was the nation's baby, too, and, as one editorial predicted, it grew up to play with matches.

Certainly, we have this advantage in the present situation, that the new national legislature and Dewey, Taft, Bricker and the other leading candidates for Mr. Truman's office in 1948 do not regard their present advantage as a mere opportunity to rock the boat for the pleasure of watching Mr. Truman turn green and drape himself over the rail. Cooperation will mean that Mr. Truman must cooperate with them to the extent of disowning the element best personified by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

* * *

THIS FOLLOWING had its day at the polls and lost, and any further attempt to promote its program and its political personalities and fortunes will be rebuked. Cooperation can go just so far. Mr. Truman seems never to have been happy in this company, however, and, as a masculine, worldly man, he is more comfortable among other men, Democrats or Republicans, whose word, as man to man, means what it says and is not, as Felix Frankfurter wrote, with feline reasoning, pernicious oversimplification. Truman has paid his debt to Hyde Park and it took his last cent of political capital to do so and now he is broke but square with the spook.

It would be too much to ask that the Republicans refrain from trying to run some of the rascals in, now that they have run them out. There will be legitimate reasons for committees under Republican control to demolish the reputations of pernicious adventurers and send some of them to political perdition and on to Alcatraz for thievery and connivance. If, therefore, duty becomes an extraordinarily sweet pleasure they cannot be blamed for that.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

WHAT are we to make of the fact that British Foreign Minister Bevin's critics on the back benches say that American imperialism is leading Britain into trouble and that Secretary of State Byrnes has been criticized by Henry Wallace, on the ground that British imperialism is leading America into trouble?

The easy thing to do is to pretend to be amused, pointing out how neatly the charges cancel each other out, and then to be indignant and say that "fellow travelers" are dividing Britain from America in the interests of the Soviet Union.

But it will be wiser to recognize that these incidents are the symptoms of a deeper trouble, and not to imagine that by refuting the arguments we have disposed of the trouble.

For though the British-American partnership is indissoluble, we must not suppose that automatically it will therefore be a happy and successful marriage. The back benchers or the Labor party who complain about America, and the followers of Henry Wallace who complain about Britain, may be the most outspoken, but they are not the only, nor are they the most important, representatives of the divisions and the disharmonies within the British-American partnership.

* * *

NOTHING COULD be further from the truth than the idea that, except among left wingers, the partnership is solid and dependable. If on both sides of the Atlantic we hug that delusion, we shall neglect the immense constructive effort of statesmanship which has now to be made if the complex interests of the British commonwealth and empire are to be harmonized successfully with the far-flung and as yet dimly defined interests of the United States.

If any one thinks that the difficulty is only on the left, he should refresh his memory by reading the debates, and studying the votes in congress and in parliament on the British loan. He will then recall that the British Conservative leaders accepted the loan reluctantly and that a very large number of Conservatives refused to vote for it; he will recall that the Republicans who now control congress were preponderantly opposed to the loan.

Surely, this is a clear indication that the British-American partnership has to be tended to, that it has to be worked out seriously, that it cannot be taken for granted, that a common front against Soviet expansion will not, in itself, suffice.

We shall make a great mistake if we depend on Russian Foreign Minister Molotov to keep us united. Byrnes and Bevin have, I venture to think, been hypnotized by Molotov, to a point where they have devoted to him energies which should have been devoted to the reconstruction of the western world.

* * *

THEIR ERROR has not been in opposing Russians at Trieste, on the Danube, in eastern Europe, at the Dardanelles, and in Iran. Their error has been in neglecting to deal with Germany, with the position of France, Belgium, and the Netherlands, with the problem of empire in the Middle East.

The way to oppose Russian expansion was to consolidate the west, not by arguing interminably about the municipal government of Trieste. The way to lift the iron curtain, and bring about the withdrawal of Soviet domination in eastern Europe, was to begin the construction of a European system in which eventually a free Poland, a free Austria, a free Hungary and Yugoslavia could take their places.

The best part of Germany and the most advanced part of Europe is within the orbit of British and American influence and leadership. That was the place to begin the work of settlement and reconstruction.

There Molotov had no veto, and there we could have had the initiative, and there we could have created a European structure which Molotov would have had to reckon with in all his dealings with the Europeans who live in eastern Europe.

When the reconstruction of western Europe was well advanced would have been the time to have a showdown about Trieste, which is neither an Italian nor a Slovenian but a European port, and about the Danube, which is a great European river.

MANSFIELDERS ATTEND AMVET NATIONAL MEET

Catlett and Bonham Leave For Convention at St. Louis.

Mansfielders John Catlett and Robert G. Bonham, representing approximately 500 World War II veterans, members of the Mansfield Robert P. Spreng post No. 26, Amvets, left today for St. Louis, Mo., to attend the second annual national Amvet convention beginning today in that city. With them went their wives.

Federal Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt was to give the delegates a report on the latest developments in the government's efforts toward solving the housing shortage. Other speakers included Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small, and Robert Gerholz, past president of the National Association of Homebuilders.

Other subjects commanding the attention of the four-day convention include the question of a federal servicemen's bonus which many Amvets oppose because, they say, they do not want "charitable handouts."

A pre-convention caucus of the executive committee produced a lively debate when John L. Lewis' headon collision with the government was mentioned by National Commander Jack W. Hardy, of Los Angeles.

Hardy accused the United Mine Workers' chief of wrecking "all legitimate gains of labor and defying attempts of the government to maintain national peace and order."

Several members of the committee, who live in the coal-producing areas of Pennsylvania and mining states, immediately voiced objections to Hardy's attack on Lewis.

FARM BUREAU REELECTS SIX

W. E. Stough, Springfield township farmer, has been re-elected a trustee for the Ohio Farm Bureau federation. Stough was named at the 28th annual federation meeting which closes today at Columbus.

Frank Engle of Millersburg was elected a new member of the board and five other trustees, besides Stough, were re-elected, the Associated Press reported.

The five were: W. N. Woods of Maumee, Carl V. Ankney of Paulding county, Ralph Varian of Canton, Frank L. Cooperider of Perry county, and Harry Guthrie of Athens county.

Highlight of the convention was the appearance of Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, who spoke at last night's session.

Bishop Oxnam said there "still is time to avert the crash" toward which the world is drifting, but "the massing of force along the lines of tension," would result only in a "truce before battle."

"Power must be brought under democratic control," declared the bishop, who is president of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ. "Justice must be established by the democratic process."

The first of these steps, he said, "will involve fundamental revisions in our concepts of sovereignty. The second will involve similar revisions in our concepts of property."

Bucyrus Farmer Arrested 14th Time In 6 Years

BUCYRUS—Robert Lovell, Bucyrus, R. D. 1, farm worker, has been arrested for the fourteenth time in six years.

Convicted 13 times in the Bucyrus mayor's court, 11 times for intoxication and twice for driving while under the influence of liquor, according to police records, Lovell has apparently set some sort of dubious record.

His lastest brush with the law occurred Tuesday afternoon after it was alleged that he was again driving while drunk, that he had failed to stop after an accident, and was driving without an operator's license.

He pleaded guilty to all charges.

According to police, Lovell, about 5 p. m. Monday, driving a pickup truck belonging to his employer on State Route 4, swerved to the wrong side of the road and struck a car being driven in the opposite direction by Mrs. Charles F. Schaber of Bucyrus.

Three witnesses in a car behind Lovell gave pursuit, following long enough to secure the license number and then returning to give aid to Mrs. Schaber and a companion.

On the two previous charges of driving while under the influence of liquor, Lovell was fined a total of $300 and his driver's license suspended for a year, both offenses taking place in 1940, the records show.

2 SPANISH SHIPS FOUND DESERTED

LISBON —(INS)— Maritime authorities were confronted today with a mystery in two Spanish vessels found abandoned off the Portuguese coast.

One of the ships was found crewless near Berlengas and was brought to Lisbon. It showed signs of disorder aboard.

The second Spanish craft, identified as the Lemy, was found abandoned near Aveiro and was brought to Leixoes. All its documents were in order.

COUNT THOSE SHOVELSFUL, MISTER!—Pete Stecher, a laborer at the Tappan Stove company, shovels coal—soft coal, that is—into the hungry maw of a furnace at the company's boiler room. As the mining of soft coal all over the nation ended at midnight last night, Mansfield industries faced curtailed production. Some Mansfield homes face the prospect of empty coal bins, too. Retail coal dealers here are voluntarily rationing coal for home use as their stockpiles gradually disappear. (News-Journal staff photo)

TRIPLE-A SEEKS FARMER REPORTS

Richland county farmers who have completed their conservation practices under this year's Triple-A program today were urged to submit their individual performance reports to the Triple-A office, North Diamond street, by Guy L. Taylor, committee chairman.

Reports must be approved before farmers can make application for payments, Taylor said.

Payments for this year's practices are expected to begin reaching farmers sometime in December, according to Taylor.

Conservation practices approved in Richland county this year include: liming, fertilizer on pasture land, contour planting, contour seeding, establishing contour strip-cropping, re-seeding depleted pasture land, tree planting, tile drainage, construction and cleaning of farm ditches, application of mulching material in orchards and on vegetable land, green manure crops, and poundage payments on clover seed sold to a dealer.

BRITON BURNS ROAD

NEW CANAAN, Conn. —(INS)— Randolph Churchill, lecturer-columnist son of former Prime Minister Winston Churchill was the latest international figure today to be accused of speeding. State police charged young Churchill with doing 80-miles-an-hour on Marritt Parkway. He posted $50 cash bond against a hearing on Dec. 9.

Boys Tell Legion Members Of Boys State Experiences

By AL PREYER

Experiences at the American Legion sponsored Boys' State, "School of Democracy", were related to Legion members and guests last night by several Mansfield youths who attended the school last June.

Every principle and method of state, city and county government, including election methods and politics, were explained and demonstrated to 16 Mansfield high school boys who were among the 700 boys attending 10-day session at Miami university, Oxford.

In an interview, several of the boys explained the plan and gave their candid opinions as to its great value as preparing us to assume our share of responsibility for the continuance of our democratic system of government."

Basis of Selection.

Eugene Carl Busch, 452 Hammond avenue, a senior high student, explained that the boys who attended Boys' State, were selected "on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and the ability to get along in general with other folks."

"We were sent to Boys' State for ten days, with all expenses paid, under the co-sponsorship of the McVey post, local individuals and organizations," Eugene pointed out. "I was sponsored by the VFW, for example."

"As soon as we checked into the school we got busy learning how government is run. We were divided into two parties—National and Federalist, and conducted an election campaign.

"On the third day there was a big election and everyone elected took office. The losers were appointed to various positions in the state, city and county governments.

"Mornings were spent at the various posts, and the afternoons in court sessions," Busch continued. "Every day there was some free time left for athletics."

Intructive Movies.

"At night we had instructive and entertaining movies and speeches by such prominent men as Gov. Frank Lausche, Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, Grove Patterson, noted Toledo editor, and Lee Pennington of the FBI's Washington office."

Tom H. Bloor, 685 Brae Burn, sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary; and Bill McKee, 136 Dawson avenue, sponsored by the Forty and Eight club, senior high boys, gave their opinions of the school.

Said Bloor: "I liked the party convention best. I got a heck of a lot out of learning how deals are swung behind the scenes—getting myself nominated and then being defeated. It's practical, plus a lot of fun."

McKee summed things up. "It was great meeting other fellows whom you expected to be different than you were in their views, to find it true, but to find that in the school of democracy things worked out in a democratic manner to the satisfaction of all. I believe that this system should spread."

Originated in 1936.

Boys' State was originated in 1936 by the American Legion as a practical fun-filled way of teaching the duties of citizenship to high school boys. The program has skyrocketed to national fame.

Mansfield boys who attended the school last June and their sponsors were, in addition to those already mentioned, William A. Werner, 174 Euclid Ave., Westinghouse Union, Local 711; David P. Barnhill, Mansfield R. D. 3, Carpenters & Joiners Union No. 735, John D. Bishop, 587 Arlington avenue, Rotary club; Charles R. Campbell, 649 Cook road, two Legionnaires and Consumers' Petroleum; Don E. Cornell, Mansfield, R. D. 5, Joseph Geiger; James C. Fanello, Sam Fox, jeweler; Richard E. Flockencier, 405 West Fourth street, a former Boys' Stater; Kenneth R. Ganor, Westview boulevard, Parkway restaurant; Warren G. Hammett, Mansfield, R. D. 2, "Mud" Gardner's Buick garage; Kenneth Livingstone, Mansfield R. D. 6, Loyal Order of the Moose; Robert E. Schrack, 442 West Fourth street, Forty and Eight; Joe Francis Miner, 480 Sloane, Chamber of Commerce, and George F. Marie jr., 246 Helen street, Fraternal Order of Police.

INDIAN COLLEGE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Dr. Edmund D. Lucas, president of Christian college, Lahore, India, will speak on "A Free India in Tomorrow's World" at a men's dinner at the Park Avenue Baptist church at 6:30 p. m. tonight.

The dinner is sponsored by the Laymen's Missionary movement, and all Mansfield churches are participating in the dinner.

Up and Down The Street

STILL MOWING—

The weather and a city building custodian teamed up today to give cause for doubt as to the current season—fall, or summer? There he was, as nonchalant as you please, mowing the city building lawn and raking up the grass tufts to the tune of "In the Good Old Summer Time." Said the custodian, R. R. "Robbie" Robinson, "people'll think I'm crazy, mowin' the lawn in November. But the grass just got so long it had to be cut." Robbie confided, however, that he purposely let it grow because it was new grass and he wanted it to get a good start before it was cut. "Good weather for it, too," he added, unbuttoning his shirt collar and rolling up his sleeves.

PHEASANT DINNER—

A dinner in holiday style with the only cost the "trimmings" is in the offing for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hartman, 99 Massa avenue, for the cock pheasant who "came to town will stay to dinner." Evidently bewildered, the bird flew into the Hartman garage after being sighted by E. R. Broiller, who lives next door. He notified the Hartmans.

Father of City Resident Stricken

Mrs. Harry P. Iler, 603 Arlington avenue, has received word of the death of her father, P. F. Callahan, of Marion, which occurred in the White Cross hospital, Columbus, Wednesday. He had been in failing health for the past three months.

Mr. Callahan is survived by his wife, Mabel; four daughters, Mrs. Iler, Mrs. Virgil Barkley of Marion; Mrs. Harvey Lattimore, Flint, Mich., and Mrs. E. J. Fields, Cuyahoga Falls, O.; three sons, M/Sgt. Harold H. Callahan, stationed with the army in Germany; Leslie B., of Bexley, and Warren H., of Wayne, Neb.; five grandchildren and two sisters.

Services will be held at the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home in Marion Saturday at 2 p. m. with burial in the Marion cemetery.

WORK STARTS ON FOUR HOMES FOR VETERANS

Shiloh Project Expected to Be Completed Within Week.

Ground on South street in Shiloh was broken yesterday to begin the construction of the first four of Richland county's emergency housing units for World War II veterans.

Mayor Glenn Swanger of Shiloh reported that the contractor hired for the project, Ivon Bauer of Mansfield, had started work in the laying of footers.

"He should have the foundation completed this week and, if we can get early delivery of the homes themselves, the units should be erected within another week," Swanger said.

County commissioners have contracted with Bauer to erect the four units (two duplex homes) at a maximum cost of $3,278 per home. Cost of purchase of the prefabricated frame-type duplex is $2,525. They are being purchased from Joseph D. Angelo of Tiffin.

Total cost of the two homes in Shiloh will be $11,606.

"Although the cost of purchasing the materials from Angelo will remain constant, the expense of erecting them may be variable. Bauer has agreed to reduce his cost figure for succeeding units if he finds he can possibly do it," Commissioner C. L. Shoup said.

Assignment of the four Shiloh units to veterans has been handled by the Garrett-Riest Post, American Legion of Shiloh. Those who will occupy the homes when they are completed are Ray Ramey, Wallace A. Harnly, Harold L. Russell, and Donald F. Dawson.

Each of these veterans has purchased a lot from H. A. Garrett and plans to purchase the home when it is offered at public sale at the liquidation of the project five years hence, Swanger said.

Meanwhile, the county commissioners still have some $52,543 remaining in state funds to finance other units for Mansfield veterans. They declare that no attempt to get the remaining units started will be made until the Shiloh units are completed and a definite cost figure is established.

Miss Geyer Dies at 83

Miss Anna M. Geyer, 83, sister of Miss Lulu A. Geyer, 104 Vennum avenue, died early today following a lingering illness.

Born in New Concord, Aug. 24, 1863, Miss Geyer has spent most of her life in Mansfield. She was a member of the Central Methodist church.

Besides Miss Geyer of this city, she is survived by another sister, Mrs. Etta Duff of Oklahoma City, Okla., and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. at the Finefrock funeral home where friends may call. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Grotto Sponsors 'Guest' Dance

Baku Grotto will sponsor a "guest night" dance Friday in Grotto hall, Monarch Floyd Lutz announced today. Grotto members are permitted to invite Masonic friends who are interested in becoming Grotto members. Dancing will be from 9:30 until 12:30.

This is the fourth dance in the first series of fall and winter dances. The final dance of the first series is scheduled for Saturday night, Dec. 14. Music for the dances is furnished by Oscar Fensch and his orchestra.

Monarch Lutz also announced that a New Years eve party and dance has been arranged and tickets may be purchased from Grotto officers.

Brunner Helps Plan Conference

Henry G. Brunner, executive vice president of the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, will serve on a committee of 11 bankers in charge of preparations for a five-state banking conference to be held in Indianapolis Dec. 12 and 13.

Bankers from Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio are expected to attend. Addresses, forum discussions and motion pictures will make up the program.

Speakers will include the top officers of the national organization, C. W. Bailey of Clarksville, Tenn., president of the bankers association, and Joseph M. Dodge of Detroit, the association's vice president.

SAR President to Speak Monday

Glenn L. Bierly, president of Constitution chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, will speak on "Political Parties—Their Organization and Purpose" at the regular monthly meeting of the chapter, Monday at 8 p. m. at North Lake park pavilion.

Wives of members are invited to attend and refreshments will be served by the committee.

BUCKS PLAN BAD TIME FOR WOLVES

FAIR OR FOUL

by LAWTON CARVER

International News Service

NEW YORK—(INS)—Now that the Big Nine has sewed up the Rose Bowl for the next five years, what do the educators of the Big Nine football foundries plan to do for the football players themselves?

Will the members of the Big Nine teams who play in the Rose Bowl be paid a fair wage for their services, and what is a fair wage? Up to now the Big Nine's plan is to have its winning club grab that $100,000 for appearing in the Rose Bowl and cut it up among the schools and the conference.

The players are supposed to be in there playing as amateurs for professional schools. I doubt that this will work out to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The Big Nine schools may find themselves confronted by the same problems that caused such a furore at Fordham and the University of Pittsburgh when these football institutions of the past were in the business for gate receipts.

Fordham's players struck after a bowl game for $100 and when given only $50 went on mouthing that Fordham was the cheapest football institution in the land. Pittsburgh's players took much the same attitude and the agitation at both schools was such that they are practically without football now.

A team gets around $100,000 for playing in the Rose Bowl. It seems that there should be enough in that bundle to give each kid some pocket money like, say, $500. But that probably would be asking too much. The Big Nine did not sew up the Rose Bowl to go giving the money away to irresponsible football players who would only get into trouble spending it.

As a result of the newly affected arrangement, the Illinois-Northwestern and Michigan-Ohio State games on Saturday take on added importance.

Illinois has the inside track at the moment on the Big Nine title, but a defeat coupled with a Michigan victory would boost the latter right into that Rose Bowl spot for a hundred grand.

Those kids at Illinois and Michigan will be asked to play their hearts out for dear old alma mumsy, and alma mumsy ain't kidding. You don't kid about a hundred grand.

But what about the kids on the ball club which goes into the Rose Bowl? I think they should form a good strong union and demand to know exactly where they stand. All that the Big Nine football players get now is a scholarship and other odds and ends, plus, of course, whatever it may take to enable a Big Nine school to bid successfully for his services in the open market for high school talent on the hoof.

State Cast In Role of Underdog

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Whatever else has transpired in a thoroughly goofy Ohio State football season, the Bucks had but a single thought on their minds today.

Briefly, that thought had to do with the massacre of their traditional rival, Michigan, at Ohio stadium Saturday.

If yesterday's practice session was a criterion, the Wolverines will have a rough way to go. The Bucks staged one of their hardest scrimmages of the season, a session particularly noteworthy for vicious blocking and tackling.

It was the last full scale tune-up before the Michigan battle, and by that same token it was the last of the season. Bixler's charges will ease up in their work today.

Saturday's game is packed with meaning for the Bucks. Most Ohio Staters would gladly write off the several disappointments of the year if the Bucks came through with a victory over the Wolverines.

Ohio will be the underdog, and as such may be the favorite, after all. Underdogs have a way of biting hard in these Michigan-OSU classics.

The Wolverines, hoping for a victory themselves in combination with an Illinois loss, are the only team with a chance to beat out the Illini for the Western conference championship.

Saturday's game is the last for four regulars on the Ohio State line, Tackles Warren Amling and Chuck Csuri, Guard Hal Dean and End Cy Souders. Dick Palmer, starting quarterback at the beginning of the season, is the chief backfield loss through seniority.

Expect Big Gate For Grid Playoff

NEW YORK —(UP)— Given good weather, a record gate was expected today for the championship football game of the all-America conference, set for Dec. 2 with the eastern champion New York Yankees figured to play the Browns at Cleveland.

The western champion city was chosen as the site, and Cleveland needs win only one of its three remaining games to take the crown. Cleveland has been the top city in attendance for professional football this year, once drawing 71,000 and once drawing 70,000 and the championship game probably would surpass both.

Four Contests Open 1946-47 County Slate

Four contests tomorrow night start eight cage outfits on a 56-game schedule for the Richland county basketball crown now worn jauntily by Coach Edward Wysocki's Butler quintet.

Butler copped the 1945-46 league title with Coach W. S. Barger's Lucas lads taking county tournament laurels. Lucas plays at Butler in the feature encounter on the opening night's star-studded program.

Seven lettermen form the nucleus of the Butler squad which will be seeking its second 1946 victory. Wysocki's quintet piled over Johnsville, 39-17, in the seasonal opener. Butler copped 20 of 25 games last season.

Shiloh plays at Bellville, Ontario goes to Lexington and Plymouth travels to Union in other league openers tomorrow night.

Ontario dropped a 30-25 decision to Leesville Tuesday night while Lexington defeated Johnsville, 22-15, last Friday.

Lexington Has Height

LEXINGTON—Three letter winners stabilize the Lexington high school quintet which appears headed for a banner hardwood year.

Coach John Rees has plenty of height on his starting fivesome and it will be increased when Richard Worley, six foot, two inch ex-serviceman, becomes eligible for competition on Jan. 17.

Gerald Bigler and David Dickson, seniors, and Rollin Ford, junior, are the Lexington lettermen. Dickson goes at six feet, one inch, while the other pair of basketeers tally in at one inch below the six-foot mark.

Raymond Cline, a transfer student from Ontario, stands six feet, two inches above the court. Fred Gore and Don Worley, juniors, round out the starting quintet. Both are short and fast.

Rees returned to the coaching line this year following five years in the army. His cagers play four games outside of league play. They play at Cardington, Dec. 3, Mansfield Madison, here, Dec. 17; at Madison, Jan. 14, and Johnsville, here, Feb. 11.

Jeeps After Fourth

TOLEDO — With three victories in four starts safely tucked away, the Toledo Jeeps head into the 'stiffer stuff' of the National Basketball league Monday night, November 25th, when they engage the touted Sheboygan Redskins in University of Toledo Field House.

HEAD MAN IN TYGER LAIR—Bob Rondy, 18-year-old senior, was elected honorary captain of the 1946 Mansfield Senior high fooball team at a meeting of the varsity squad Wednesday afternoon. The Tygers won seven, lost one and tied two. One of the most polished linemen in state high school circles, Rondy played tackle on offense and backed up the line on defense. Won a letter as a junior and played in eight varsity contests as a freshman. (News-Journal photo)

Ex-Tyger Cager On Wooster Squad

WOOSTER, O. — Working with a squad of 55, which includes seven lettermen, Coach E. M. Hole is hopeful that returning veterans and some newcomers to Wooster basketball will give the Scots a team somewhere near pre-war Wooster strength.

The lettermen are Don Swegan, of Girard, Dick Gaver, of Upper Sandusky, Ross Smith, of Mt. Lebanon, Pa., Dave Hollingsworth, of Mansfield, Bob Baxter, of Lockport, N. Y., Harry Scheifele, of Cleveland and Jim Weygandt, of Wooster.

Barons Blast Rockets

Cleveland and Pittsburgh continued to share the American Hockey league's Western division lead today after the Barons blasted the Philadelphia Rockets, 7 to 2 last night and the Hornets defeated the Springfield Indians, 4 to 3.

54 Candidates Try for Spots On Bulldog 5

Practice sessions for the 1946-47 John Simpson junior high school basketball squad opened yesterday afternoon in the Bulldog gymnasium.

Coach Bob Kennedy invited a squad of 54 cage hopefuls for the first regular practice drill. Included in the list were five varsity lettermen from last year's quintet, namely Don Cline, Charles Jenkins, John Sazdanoff, Ed Demyon and Willie Fowler.

The John Simpson court artists open their season at Ashland on Dec. 6 when they collide with the A's junior varsity in a preliminary to the Ashland high school Cleveland Rhodes contest.

Kennedy conducted tryouts during gym periods during the last three weeks to trim approximately 35 youngsters off the squad. The squad will be pared to 10 ninth graders, 10 eighth graders and 10 seventh graders before the opening engagement.

Other squadmen are: eighth graders, Jim Carbetta, Eddie Miller, John Sheetz, Clayton Psimer, Dave Guy, Angelo Tamberrino, Jim Hager, Gene Fidler, Hayes Strickler, Bud Sorenson and Harold McQuillan.

MAJORS, HORVATH TOP TYGER FIGURES

Cline turned in a total yardage mark of 134 to 124 for Majors. However, Majors, one of the state's top backs, has compiled the astounding figure of 1,329 yards in 10 games. He has picked up 895 by rushing, 152 by passing and has caught Cline aerials for 258 yards.

The 895 yards on the ground was compiled on 141 trips into the secondary for an average of 6.2 yards an excursion. He is second in point scoring with nine touchdowns and one extra point.

Horvath, who missed the last four games with a broken leg, paced the point-makers with 11 touchdowns and ended in second place in rushing figures. The pile-driving fullback blasted for 571 yards in 94 trips, an average of 6.1.

In the passing department, Cline completed 24 of 48 tosses for 440 yards. Three of his heaves went for TD's while he flagged one touchdown toss from Majors.

Cline was second to Majors in the total yardage department with 693 yards. He had 220 by rushing, 440 by passing, and 33 by catching aerials.

Bill McKee, the blond bullet, finished third in scoring, with 36 points; third in rushing, with 491 yards, and third in total offense, with 598 yards. His average of 7.3 yards a trio was the best among the ball carriers.

Honor Shelby At Mat Show

Tonight's Shelby night at the Mansfield Armory and Promoter Earl Myers has lined up a card of mat artists that promises to give groan and groan fans a run for their money.

Shelby Daily Globe is sponsoring the show and city officials of the Richland county town will be guests of the management. The wrestling program is slated to get underway at 8:30 p. m.

Ali Pasha, the bearded Turk with the nasty disposition, meets rugged Fred Crone, Boston, in the 60-minute headline encounter. Crone dropped a tight decision to Paul Brown, Mr. America, last week but vows that he has a counter for Pasha's favorite "sleeper hold."

Ken Mayne, the Texas cowpoke, tangles with Jack Smithers, Columbus grappler, in the one hour opener. Both matches are two-of-three fall affairs.

Six Teams Enter Bucyrus YMCA Basketball League

BUCYRUS—Six teams have entered the Bucyrus "Y" city cage league which begins operation on Saturday, November 30, in the YMCA.

Veterans of Foreign Wars, Moose lodge, Lyons Hi-Speed, Whetstone, Cooties and Zeigler Milling company are the squads that will compete for the championship. League games will be played Saturday and Wednesday nights.

24 Shelby Whippet Gridders Will Receive Letters Dec. 7

SHELBY—Twenty-four Shelby Whippets will receive varsity football letters during a public recognition program to be held by the grid boosters on Dec. 7 at the Shelby high school auditorium, Coach Al Fendrick announced today.

The Whippets, Northern Ohio league champions, won six games, lost two and tied one during the 1946 grid season. In league play they were undisputed champions for the first time in 14 years.

Varsity players receiving the monograms will be Dick Seitz, Bill Thompson, Bill Keiser, Stan Jones, Jim Reed, Bill Hassler, John Hardie, Charles Phillips, Kenny Alberts, Joe Korbas, Grant Dowds, Charles Bell, Jack Coffey, Jan Dick, Duck Hoover, Bud Clabaugh, Darwin Sampsel, Jim Anderson, Chuck Bly, Jim Will, Ben Lay, Al Maier, "Red" Fackler, Jim Dick and Herb Tullis, senior manager.

Two dinners and the program are planned to honor the Whippets during the next three weeks.

On Friday night, Nov. 22, the Shelby branch store of the Cleveland Bing company will fete the Shelby high school gridders at a dinner at the Shelby Inn. Gordon Cobbledick, sports editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, will speak.

The fathers of the players will sponsor the Dad-Son banquet to be held Dec. 5 at the Union Grange hall. An informal program has been planned for the evening.

The recognition program will be open to the public and will take the place of the usual athletic banquet for the players. Coach Fendrick will award the varsity letters during the rally. Assistant Coach Joseph Yohn will award the reserve players monograms.

THREE INDICTED MEN SENTENCED

Three men recently indicted by the county grand jury were sentenced yesterday to terms in the Ohio penitentiary while two others were committed to the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane for mental examinations.

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch sentenced Antonio Ferrelli to one to 20 years in the penitentiary, William Dailey to one to seven years, and Romie Luckett to one to 15 years.

After defense attorneys represented that there is some question as to the sanity of Richard Nelson Thomas and John C. Laughlin, Judge Kalbfleisch ordered them examined at the Lima hospital.

Ferrelli pleaded guilty to a charge of uttering a forged check. Dailey confessed to robbing Sheriff Frank E. Robinson's living quarters of $150 worth of property, and Luckett was convicted of breaking and entering.

Thomas changed his plea from innocent to guilty of forgery and his attorney, Joseph Ellison, asked that his mental condition be examined at the Lima hospital.

Laughlin, charged with rape with consent of a 13-year-old girl, changed his plea to guilty and he was committed to the Lima hospital at the request of his counsel, Atty. John L. Catlett.

But that car will have what you're aiming for.

Style that's no mere one-year wonder — but smart and clean and right in a way that lasts.

Power — plenty of it — a big bonnetful of Fireball straight-eight power, smooth as cream pouring from a pitcher.

Size and roadability and easy-handling — this car will be a travel-wise honey that hugs the road as though it loved it!

There will be smoothness and steadiness you haven't known before — and putting it all together for you a hard-driving production outfit that's staging a notably successful battle against shortages and slowdowns.

If it takes longer to get a Buick than anyone thought a few months back, it has also proved itself as a whale of a lot more automobile than folks expected!

So skip today — give a thought to tomorrow — and plan ahead for something good.

Get your money down on a Buick, available for future delivery—with or without a car to trade.

DAIRY PRICES NEAR '46 PEAK, REVIEW SAYS

May Decline as Milk Production Seasonally Increases.

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The agriculture department said today that dairy prices have about reached their 1946 peak.

Many items nearly doubled in the past 12 months, it said, but prices should start declining somewhat as soon as milk production starts increasing seasonally. The low point in milk production was reached in mid-November.

The department's predictions were included in its monthly review of the dairy situation. The review carried a chart comparing current dairy prices with last year.

It showed that 92 score—or top grade—butter was selling for 82.7 cents a pound on the Chicago wholesale market in October compared with the OPA price of 41.5 cents a year ago.

Cheese was selling on the same market for 55.8 cents a pound compared with 26 cents in October, 1945. The increase for fluid, condensed and evaporated milk was much less sharp.

Meanwhile, the department said the output of milk per cow was setting new records as of Nov. 1 as a result of good pastures and plentiful suplies of feed concentrates.

"With fewer cows on hand, total October milk production was 8,900,000,000 pounds compared with 9,100,000,000 pounds in October, 1945," it said.

DEVELOPED by Michigan State college engineers, Lansing, Mich., the machine shown above is to be used by agriculturists to combat frosts that bring hardship to fruit and truck producers. The device uses infrared heat, generated by oil flame, and holds temperatures as much as 8 degrees above the prevailing readings. A unit large enough to protect an acre can be built for $85. Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)
